Rush, Yeramian join council

Mayor Oakley wins second term; Gallien loses; Folmar re-elected

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley won his bid for a second term in office, defeating his challenger, Mel Morgan, 2,928 to 2,203 votes in unofficial vote returns from Tuesday's city election.

Oakley's victory was an almost exact repeat of the primary election in September when he bested

Morgan by a 1,744 to 1,157 difference.

Morgan, a local businessman and developer, had vowed an all-out battle to gain the mayor's chair and had spent heavily on newspaper ads, a political tabloid, and campaign literature.

In the race for treasurer, Beverly McAnally, veteran council member, came out on top, winning over incumbent Helen Gallien 2,866 to 2,049 votes.

In the primary election, McAnally had also edged Gallien, that time narrowly, 1,108 to 1,093, a surprise to many political pundits. Gallien had served as city finance director under former Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz, who lost out in the primary.

The race for clerk produced no surprise with veteran incumbent Leonard J. Folmar easily beating Jerry Kubiak, ordinance officer under former mayors Terry Trout and James Stewart. Folmar polled 2,910 votes to 1,768 for Kubiak.

The race for seven council seats, with 14 candidates in the field, produced an upset when incumbent

Mary L. Carter failing to win re-election.

The other five incumbents kept their council seats and will be joined by surprise winner Richard K. Yeramian and Ed Rush, well-known city florist.

Unofficial vote totals for the winners are: Mary Ann Banks, 3,239; Fred 'Junior' Block, 2,411; Gerry Canejo, 2,208; Ray Cantrell, 2,202; Jimmie Raspberry, 2,457; Rush, 2,161; and Yeramian, 2,053.

Vote totals for losing candidates for council are: Carter, 1,843; Barry Baumann, 1,862; Wayne Avery, 1,435; Richard K. Campbell, 1,441; Charles J. Dick, 1,091; Ed Fall, 919; and Shirlee M. Helms, 1,062.

Clerk Folmar reported a total of 5,263 votes cast in the election Tuesday.

School millage wins by 21 votes

The Romulus school district's nine-mill renewal proposal won by the narrowest of margins, according to unofficial vote returns in Tuesday's city and school elections.

The renewal is for a five-year period, but tax collections to pay for the levy will not begin until next year.

The advisory proposal to test the wind of public favor on whether Romulus should have a commercial and political sign ordinance won voter approval 2,669 to 1,410.

Although voters voted for the city to have such an ordinance, the final decision will be up to city council.

Sheriff's detectives solve several area burglaries

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Several crime cases, including the recent theft at Romulus City Hall, arson of a residence, and breaking and enterings in the Meadows Subdivision, are being cleared up by two detectives from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Various crimes in and around the Meadows are keeping police busy around the clock, according to Detectives Robert Pond and Ed Lindberg.

Two suspects picked up by Belleville Police Oct. 24 on a charge of breaking into a car at a local trailer park are believed linked to the recent theft of cameras, camera equipment, a tape recorder and tapes from Romulus City Hall, the detectives said.

The detectives said Belleville Police Officers Robert Dawson and Richard Wall spotted the two men looking into vehicles at the trailer park and stopped them. A search of their car reportedly turned up several suspicious articles on the car's seats. The pair was asked to open the car's trunk. There, Belleville police found several CB radios, cameras and camera equipment, some of which were later identified as among items taken in the Romulus City Hall breakin, Lindberg said.

Informed of the arrests, Pond and Lindberg also questioned the two men. Although warrants have been issued against the two men, charging them with larceny from a car in the Belleville case, the detectives said their investigation is continuing.

Both suspects are in custody, awaiting trial for the Belleville larceny, the detectives said. Since no warrants have been issued for the city hall theft the names of the two suspects are being withheld, they said.

Police also arrested a suspect for the breaking and entering a house at 16200 Middlebelt Road, Romulus, on Aug. 8.

Lindberg called the case unusual, following the investigation. He said three men reportedly broke into the home, ransacked it of valuables and piled them on a blanket on the floor. Noticing the door to a bedroom was locked, they also broke down the door, only to find the muzzle of a gun pointed at them and held by the owner of the residence, an elderly woman in her 70s. Evidently frightened, the threesome ran from the house, leaving everything behind, Lindberg said.

Investigation resulted in the arrest Oct. 24 of Thomas Ward, 19, of Romulus, who was charged with breaking and entering. He waived examination last Wednesday before Judge Henry Zaborowski in Romulus 34th District Court and was lodged in the Wayne County Jail after failing to post $5,000 bond. He will appear for arraignment in Circuit Court on Nov. 15, the detectives said.

The officers said they expect to make additional arrests in the case soon.

Another investigation of a breakin in the Meadows led to the arrest Oct. 24 of Keith Reynolds, 26, of Ypsilanti.

Lindberg said police received information that Reynolds allegedly had some stereo components in his possession reportedly taken during a breakin Oct. 23 of a house at 28415 Leroy St. Owner of the residence was on vacation at the time, he said.

Reynolds was charged with receiving stolen property over $100 and appeared Oct. 25 before Judge Zaborowski in district court. He was released on a personal bond and will appear for pre-trial examination in the same court Nov. 28, Lindberg said.

The detectives said John Lewis, youth officer for the sheriff's department, provided valuable leads in the case.

The two detectives also arrested Edward Narowski, 20, of Romulus, for a theft at the Millwood Lumber Co., 14211 Harrison, Romulus in early June. Taken in the theft was about $100 in cash, but about $1,000 in damages were done to the exterior and interior of the company's building, the officers said.

Narowski pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of entering without breaking last Tuesday in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Richard Dunn and was released on personal bond. He will appear Nov. 27 before Judge Dunn for sentencing. Originally, he was charged with breaking and entering, which carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison. The reduced charge carries a 5-year term in prison.

Two Romulus residents, Kenneth Lowe, 17, and Floyd Dunaway, 18, will appear Nov. 7 in 34th District Court for examination to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to bind them over for trial on charges of arson. The pair had pleaded guilty to the charge, stemming from a fire at a residence at 16110 Farnum July 19.

Lindberg and Pond, however, would not release any information pertaining to the case. Lowe was originally arrested July 20 and Dunaway on Sept. 18. Both men are now out on personal bond, the detectives said.

The officers said Dunaway lived across the street from the burned house, while Lowe lived only a few blocks away.

A suspect has been arrested in the breakin July 29 of a house at 16227 Wildfox, also in the Meadows, Lindberg said.

According to the detective, the structure is a house under construction. Allegedly, taken in the breakin were a dishwasher, cupboards and a quantity of tile. Some of the items were recovered, police said.

Following his cooperation with police, the suspect was released pending further investigation. Again, Lindberg and Pond credited Youth Officer Lewis with greatly aiding the probe.

Murder suspect turns himself in to Wyandotte police

A suspect, sought by police in the shooting death last week of a Wyandotte man in a Romulus residence, surrendered himself to Wyandotte police last Wednesday. He is lodged in jail facing two charges.

Dennis W. Pillette, 21, walked into the Wyandotte police station last Wednesday afternoon, according to Det. Ed Lindberg of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Lindberg is working on the murder case with Det. Jimmy Cranford and Det. Alex Robertson of the Sheriff's Department.

Police began looking for Pillette after being called Monday to 15802 Springhill in Romulus to investigate a shooting. Arriving on the scene about 6 p.m. they found Ulysses G. Meade, 21, dead from a shotgun blast to the face.

Police said a party was in progress at the Springhill residence when Meade and Pillette became involved in an argument.

Witnesses told police Meade allegedly walked up to Pillette, whom he knew had a .16 gauge shotgun, and pointed to his own chin, saying "Right here, right here."

The detectives said Pillette allegedly shot Meade in the face and then fled from the scene in a car. The automobile later was found in the downriver area, police said.

Pillette was arraigned Thursday morning before Judge James Stone in Romulus 34th District Court on charges of second-degree murder and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony, said Lindberg.

The accused man was lodged in the Wayne County Jail pending his examination in district court at 9 a.m. today.

Police said court records revealed that Pillette pleaded guilty in 1978 to "careless, reckless and negligent use of a firearm causing injury" in the shooting of a woman. He was granted two years probation, Lindberg said.

Police continue investigation of Halloween night shooting

Both a 16-year-old white youth who was wounded Halloween night and a 26-year-old black man, who police say shot the youth during a racially-motivated incident in Romulus, remain free of charges this week.

The youth, in stable condition and improving at Wayne County General Hospital, according to Det. Richard Fenton of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Arrested Wednesday night at his home, but later released pending further investigation, is David Allen, who had moved into the all-white neighborhood Oct. 27, with his wife and four small children.

Fenton said his investigation disclosed that Allen and his family had been harassed every night since moving into the neighborhood, evidently by a group of juveniles and youths.

"These kids were throwing bottles, rocks and bricks at the Allen house and also had set fire to a bunch of leaves near the house," explained the detective.

Fenton said the youths also apparently had dressed up in white sheets in efforts to pass themselves off as members of the Klu Klux Klan.

The shooting incident occurred when the juvenile and a second youth, Steven Sagert, both of Romulus, drove by in a pickup truck about 9 p.m. Wednesday and attempted to throw a bottle at the Allen house.

Falling in his efforts to "get a good throw" from the passenger's seat, the juvenile got into the back of the open bed truck, and the duo allegedly came back for a second try, the detective said.

As the truck came to almost a complete stop in front of Allen's house, the juvenile reportedly stood up in the back of the truck to throw the bottle, he reported. At that time, Allen fired a .12 gauge shotgun blast at the truck, with pellets striking the youngster in the side, Fenton said.

The officer estimated that Allen was about 25 feet away at the time of the shooting.

Fenton said filing charges in the case would be up to the Prosecutor's Office. Prosecutor Robert Sage could not be reached Monday on whether he would file charges against either or both the juvenile or Allen. Fenton told the Roman he had not heard from Sage and was not aware of any charges that would be filed against either individual.

The officer said Allen had rented the house in the southwest section of the city from a local real estate broker and that both he and his wife are employed at the General Motors Willow Run Plant at Ypsilanti.

Fenton asked that anyone with knowledge of the shooting or of events leading up to the shooting should contact him at the Out-county Sheriff's Office at 721-2222.

The injured juvenile's father told the Roman that he could not understand why his son "would do such a thing". He said his son was a "straight A student at Romulus High School" and had never been in trouble before.

However, the father expressed anger at no charges being filed, as of Monday, against Allen.

"This man should be made to pay for what he did. What he did was 10 times worse than what my son did," he said.

The father claimed that there was more to the case than indicated and contended that there was only water in the Molotov cocktail that was thrown at Allen's house. He added that Allen "... had taken the law into his own hands."

"I've never had any trouble before with blacks," the father explained. "My next door neighbor is a black and we get along fine. He even comes over and borrows my lawnmower once in a while."

The father said his son is out of danger, but that the shotgun pellet remains imbedded inside his body.

IF YOU WEAR OUT YOUR BODY, WHERE ARE YOU GOING TO LIVE?

Body Maintenance Is Essential

Compare your body to a building or a bridge. No structure is so perfectly and precisely engineered that it can withstand every punishing force that man and nature visit upon it through the years. Periodic maintenance is essential for its longer and more useful life.

Just as the bridge or building can be made to fulfill its important role for many more years, so can that very important body of yours. With proper maintenance, you can enjoy a greater feeling of vigor and a zest for living; you can keep that happy glow of vibrant good health longer.

And that's where your Doctor of Chiropractic can help. He is your key to better health and a longer life. He can help you maintain your body in a normal, natural condition.

The best doctor in the world cannot "unboil a hardboiled egg." Assure yourself of the most effective possible health care by keeping regular appointments with your Doctor of Chiropractic for neurological, orthopedic, physical, and, if he deems it necessary, X-ray examinations.

Have periodic chiropractic checkups, and at least once-a-month maintenance adjustments. This should prevent or correct nerve irritations that inevitably develop and can play havoc with the normal functions of your body, sap your energy, and bring on health problems, which eventually may cause much pain and even shorten your life.

Mahalak appointed to special transit panel

State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District) has been appointed to a special committee to study the proposed merger of the City of Detroit's public transportation system with the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

The studies will be conducted by select members of the House and Senate and representatives of the Governor's Office, the City of Detroit and SEMTA.

"Although consolidation of the two transportation systems would offer many advantages," Mahalak said, "there are a number of problem areas which the special committee will attempt to resolve. "There is an immediate need for final decisions on a plan and program for public transportation services in southeast Michigan.

"A sound transportation network is vital to the economy of the State.

Public transportation services in particular are becoming increasingly important in light of our energy conservation efforts." "Probably our greatest opportunity to conserve energy while meeting public transportation needs lies in southeast Michigan," he added.

Mahalak pointed out that the issue will have to be addressed by the Legislature shortly when it discusses and acts upon a pending resolution authorizing funds for the planning and development of a rapid transit system for southeast Michigan.

Mahalak explained that law, enacted in 1966, provided for a local revenue source for a transportation district in southeast Michigan to aid in paying for the capital and operating expenditures for a rapid transit system. The law also provided that this particular type of financing would expire April 15, 1980, unless there is a merger of the Detroit transportation system and SEMTA.

After career in farming

Roy Raker finds Huron supervisor job a challenge

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Promising voters "nothing" and running as a Republican in predominantly Democrat stronghold may not seem like a formula for success, but it didn't stop Roy Raker from being elected supervisor of Huron Township.

The 47-year-old, a farmer for most of his life, handily won the supervisor's seat in 1978, defeating his Democrat opponent by 620 votes and becoming the first Republican to be elected in seven years.

Raker's was not an empty victory. His opponent, George Moore, had been township clerk for one term and supervisor for two terms.

"I believed I would do a better job as supervisor because I could now devote myself full-time to the office. As a resident of Huron Township for 31 years, I felt the job would be a challenge," he explained.

Being the only Republican on the 7-member township board hasn't stopped Raker from getting most of his recommendations approved. He estimates that about 90 percent of them are passed by the board.

Since taking office, the supervisor is most proud of working out an agreement with the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation that resulted in lower property evaluations for township residents.

"The taxation bureau wanted to impose a flat 7 percent increase during last year's reassessment of township property," he said. "But, I succeeded in persuading them to go along with increases of 6 percent for residential, 3 percent for commercial and no increases for manufacturing and agricultural."

Raker figures, that the lowered property assessments saved township residents many tax dollars, a fact that gives him great personal satisfaction.

Raker was not happy with clogged township drains and his claim that Block Grant funds that could be used to clean them "had been set in a corner" and forgotten time after time.

He took action and saw to it that the funds were put to their proper use to clean the drains.

An example of the close cooperation between Raker and his fellow trustees on the Huron board is having himself named contractor for construction of a new dog pound and for renovation of the Waltz community hall.

"Instead of having to spend $85,000 for the dog pound, something which the township could not afford, I am having the dog pound built for below $30,000," he said.

Bids received by the board of between $12,000 and $30,000 to renovate the Waltz community hall were turned down, by the board and Raker went ahead to contract the job for less than $9,000.

Questioned as to his feelings about Space World, the controversial lunar-oriented recreational park slated for construction soon in the township, Raker commented that he favored the project for several reasons.

"Revenues received from the park will enable the township to pay off its bonded indebtedness for water and sewer bonds more rapidly. Also, the park will provide summer jobs for many of our high school students and teen-agers," he asserted.

Raker contended the lunar park would cost the township less in services for such items as police and fire protection and garbage pickup than if a subdivision of 1,000 houses were built on the land.

"Space World also would be more self supporting," he said.

Several families living near the proposed location of the lunar park have fought its construction in the courts, but the way now seems clear for work to begin on the mammoth project.

The rangy, 6 foot-1 inch Raker and his wife, Vera, are parents of five children. One son, Michael, does some farming and is a charter pilot at Willow Run Airport. Another son, Timothy, farms near Litchfield, and another son, Dale, lives at home and works for Northwestern Airlines at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

roads. From there, his family moved to Huron Township to a farm there.

In Raker's case, family history has repeated itself. He was born one of three boys and two girls, the same pattern as in his children.

'The taxation bureau wanted to impose a flat 7 percent...'

He has a special gleam in his eyes when he speaks about his oldest daughter, Karen, who spent 3½ years in Japan with the U.S. Navy and who is now stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base.

His youngest daughter, Leslie, attends Huron High School and also lives at home.

The supervisor has lived in Wayne County all of his life except for a few months near Monroe when he was a child. He first remembers living on a farm on Cherry Hill Road between Inkster and Beech Daly roads, then moving to another farm on Hannan Road between Ecorse and Van Born

Now married for 28 years, Raker was elected president of the Wayne County Farm Bureau in the 1960s for two years and served on its board of directors for six years.

He seems proud of the fact that for eight years during 1949-57, he worked as a wet plasterer during winter months when farming is at a standstill.

"I worked as a plasterer with a neighbor friend, even did my own house," he commented.

As a youth of 18, he remembers being asked to run for highway commissioner, a job that required no work and paid no salary. He was elected twice to 2-year terms.

"The commissioner's job was on the ballot, and it had to be filled, so I ran as a favor to a friend," he said.

His next venture into politics 28 years later was more rewarding when he ran for and was elected Huron supervisor.

In philosophy, Raker describes himself as a "middle of the road, who does what the occasion calls for".

Outside of hard work with his hands most of his life, Raker's chief loves are hunting and fishing, mostly in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. A deer hunter since 1950, he has bagged 28 of them, about one a year.

Previous to his election, Raker and a brother had farmed some 600 acres of land just north of New Boston for 10 years. Garden produce was grown on 150 acres, while grain, usually wheat and soybeans, was raised on the remaining 450 acres.

"Our produce was sold to all of the brand name supermarket chains and to such large outlets as the Eastern Market and the Produce Terminal," he explained.

With his ability to meet every situation head on and to do the best he can to resolve them, Raker appears destined to be able to cope with the future, whatever it turns out to be.

Mt. Pleasant students learn manufacturing 'first hand'

Students at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus participated in a unique project Tuesday that involves them in many of the operations of manufacturing, from beginning to end.

Pupils of the fourth and fifth grades will cut, file, sand, paint, and assemble components to make the finished product — a diesel semi-trailer truck.

The fact that the truck is only a wooden model does not detract from the thrill and adventure of the overall project for the students concerned.

First of all, students must fill out application forms for specific jobs, then be interviewed, and finally approved before being "hired" for the manufacturing plant.

Accepted student employees report at 9 a.m. for work under the supervision of Cliff Fitzgerald, a student from Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti.

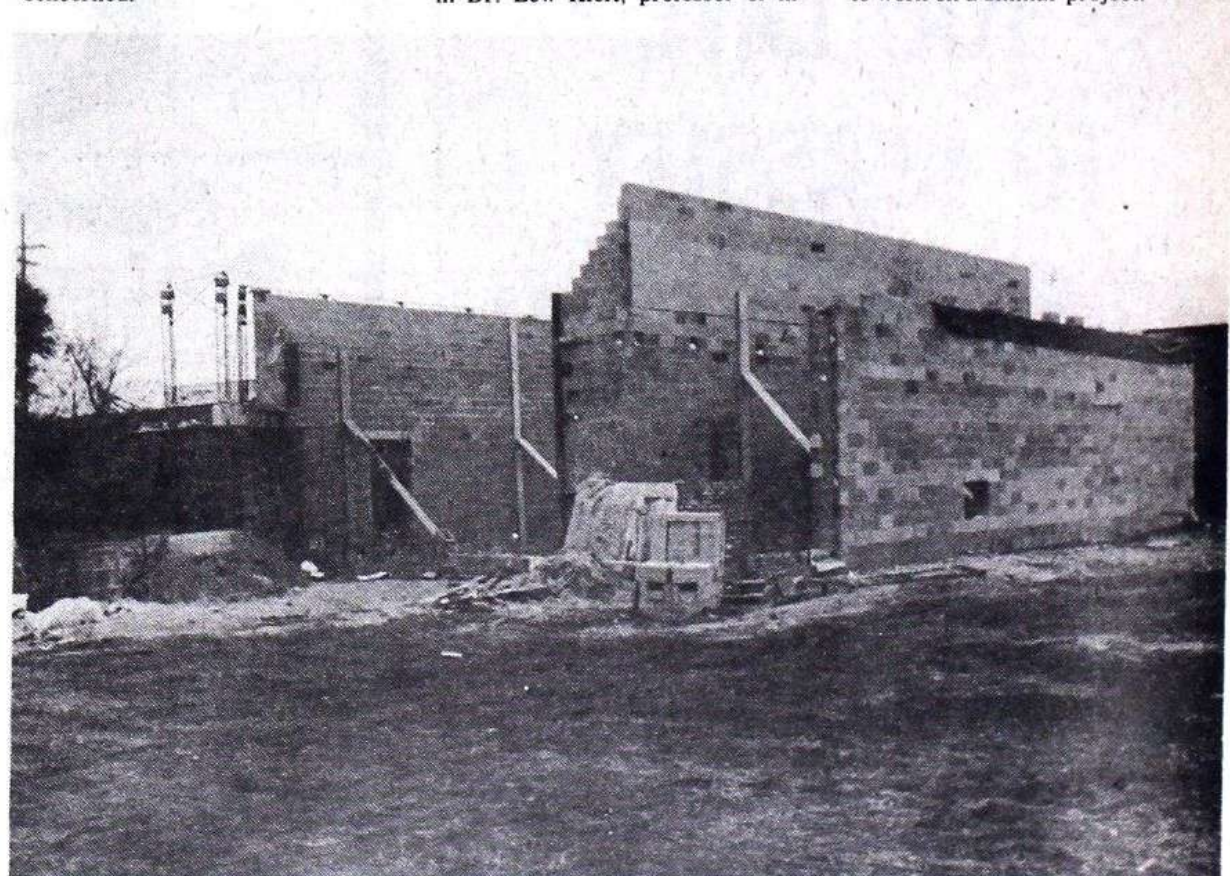

According to Harold Connon, Mt. Pleasant principal, he wanted pupils to have some experience with tools that were available at the school. To that end, he brought in Dr. Lew Kieft, professor of industrial arts at EMU, to show children various wooden models they could build from scratch in their own factory.

Connon said the pupils picked the diesel truck as their choice and the manufacturing project was started with the help of Fitzgerald.

The principal said the truck building plant run by students gives them a first hand concept of what goes on inside of a real company engaged in manufacturing.

Connon said that sixth graders will be scheduled in the near future to work on a similar project.

In Brief

"The Miracle Worker", a play about Helen Keller, deaf and blind from a baby, and her rise to prominence, will be presented by Belleville High School students in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Nov. 15, 16, and 17.

Karen Hunchberger will direct a staff of 19 teachers and 65 students in the play written by William Gibson.

Tickets may be obtained in advance at the auditorium box office from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. daily.

All newly elected officials of the City of Romulus will be publically sworn into office on Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 11:30 a.m. in the City Council Chambers of Romulus City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road.

The ceremony, open to the public, is sponsored every election year by the city, and provides citizens with the opportunity to formally greet the new city administrators and get a glimpse of the plans and promise for the city during their forthcoming terms in office.

A reception is held immediately following the ceremony in the City Hall Community Room, to which all residents are cordially invited.

Citizens are encouraged to call the Public Information Office at 941-0666 for further information.

Boxing enthusiasts will be able to enjoy 12 to 15 bouts at a special boxing show Nov. 10 at the Belleville High School gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m.

Included on the fight card will be Danny Marosian, who according to many boxing experts, is one of the top amateur bantam weights in the nation, and Joe Lyles, a promising junior welterweight who defeated Duane Johnson as an amateur in a local AAU Golden Gloves meet in this area. Johnson currently is undefeated as a professional.

Area residents will see 10 aspiring boxers from the Belleville-Van Buren area, who are coached by Chuck Fecay, perform against pugilists from Detroit, Pontiac, Westland and Garden City.

Fecay's twin sons, Randy, a welterweight, and Donny, a featherweight, will be featured on the fight bill.

The boxing event, sponsored by the BHS swimming team, will cost $5. Tickets can be obtained at the high school or from Fecay at the Adventure Travel Bureau, Main and Fourth streets, Belleville.

More than 350 people honored Vira Petraska at a testimonial dinner on Oct. 30 at the K of C Hall in Wayne.

While the testimonial was primarily to honor her many years of service to the community, it also gave everyone an opportunity to congratulate her and Bernard McGrane on their marriage in Hawaii on Sept. 28.

In recognition of 44 years of service to the community at the Romulus office of Manufacturers Bank, tribute was paid Mrs. McGrane by dignitaries from the entire area.

Mayor William Oakley presented her with a City of Romulus proclamation, naming her "Outstanding Citizen of the Year for 1979."

Rep. Edward M. Mahalak presented her with a proclamation from the State of Michigan, adopted and passed by the House of Representatives and State Senate, honoring her dedication and service to the community. Her proclamation will be a permanent record of the State of Michigan.

In addition, she received many telegrams including one from Cong. William D. Ford congratulating her on her outstanding service.

Legislation would regulate public employee strikes

The State House of Representatives' Labor Committee has approved legislation to regulate public employee strikes in the state.

The bi-partisan package, which now goes before the full House for debate, is the result of 5 months of work by the committee.

State Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor), chairman of the Labor Committee, called the strike regulation package "something everyone can live with and a proposal which will have Gov. Milliken's support."

The strike control proposals adopted by the committee would:

- Remove current prohibitions against public employee strikes.
- Maintain current prohibitions against strikes by police, fire and emergency medical employees, as well as state civil service employees.
- Create new bargaining procedures which would reduce the number of future strikes.

— Establish penalties on both teachers and school boards when a strike cuts into the 180-day school year and prohibit the extension of a school year beyond the third Friday in June.

— Require that both sides to a labor dispute meet at least 16 hours a day during any public strike.

— Allow judges to enjoin strikes which endanger the public health and safety.

"This is an extremely important and complex package of legislation which has required a tremendous amount of work," Bullard said. "The bi-partisan support for these bills reflects our belief that this approach will help reduce the number of public employee strikes now taking place."

Bullard pointed to examples of other states, such as Oregon,

Pennsylvania and Hawaii, where the number of public strikes is declining under similar legislation plans.

"The experience of these states indicates that the approach we are taking can and will work," he explained. "What we have done with this package of strike control legislation is to eliminate the current incentives for strikes to occur."

"We also place economic sanctions on both teachers and school boards to make sure that school strikes don't get out of hand. This way, we can make sure that bargaining between public employers and employees takes place in an atmosphere of seriousness and urgency, where neither side can benefit from being unreasonable."

The centerpiece of the strike package is House Bill 4645. It would allow public employees to strike after serving 10 days notice, and upon expiration of their work contract. Employees must already file a 90-day notice with the Michigan

Employment Relations Commission (MERC) stating that their work contract is due to expire. MERC may provide mediation and fact-finding services during the 90 days (Continued on Page A-7)

'Redcoat army' heads north for start of deer season

The bulk of Michigan's "redcoat army" should encounter few traffic problems during its annual migration north the day before firearm deer season opens Nov. 15, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"The number of hunters in the woods should nearly equal last year's record 747,028, and most of those will be heading for camps in the northern two-thirds of the state on Wednesday (Nov. 14)," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

Approximately 80,000 buck deer should be bagged over the 15-day season, with most taken in the first week. That figure is down more than 20 percent from last year's record 106,000 kill because of a drop in deer population due to three consecutive harsh winters.

"The only traffic problem hunters could face is along I-75 near the Zilwaukee Drawbridge north of Saginaw," Ratke said.

Periodic slowdowns could result where three lanes of traffic merge into two. To reduce the possibility of jams caused by bridge openings, Saginaw River shippers will voluntarily restrict bridge openings during peak traffic hours Nov. 14-18.

"Barring weather problems, hunters should be traveling at maximum speed on all other roads leading to deer country," Ratke said.

Auto Club predicts that northbound deer hunter traffic should be heaviest between 2 p.m. and 12 midnight on Wednesday (Nov. 14), and 5 and 10 a.m. on Thursday (Nov. 15). A second wave of hunters will be on the road on Friday (Nov. 16) between 3 and 10 p.m.

Southbound hunters are expected to jam roads between 2 and 11 p.m. on Sunday (Nov. 18).

Mackinac Bridge officials expect hunter-vehicle crossings to equal last year's total of 21,000 before the season ends on Nov. 30.

Auto Club reminds hunters that they must wear either a hat, vest or coat of blaze orange to hunt public lands.

Safety programs trim hunting-related deaths

Each year, the number of firearm-related hunting accidents in Michigan declines.

Hunter safety programs for adults and young people have contributed to this. Another factor is the Michigan law requiring all hunters to wear at least one article of clothing in hunter orange.

As a result, says cooperative Extension service wildlife specialist Glenn Dudderar, hunting is one of the safest of all outdoor sports.

Most accidental shootings that do occur happen at close range on a clear day with good weather and involve a friend or relative and a shotgun. They usually happen because someone handles a gun improperly or carelessly. They happen less frequently when a hunter is preparing to aim and shoot, probably because most people recognize the potential danger of that situation.

The time to be most wary is when you least intend to shoot, when you're getting in or out of a car (guns should not be loaded!), when you're climbing over a fallen log, or when you're taking a breather with the gun cradled in your arm.

In some years, more hunting-related deaths are due to heart attack than firearms. These usually occur when ordinarily inactive people go out and overdo.

Hunters need to get in shape for their sport the same way a swimmer or runner does. You need not train as hard as a marathon runner, of course. But you need to build up your strength and endurance. Start a conditioning program after consulting your physician. Regular, vigorous walking will help you get in shape. If you're up to it, swimming and jogging are good, too. If you have a regular fitness program already, step it up a bit in early fall.

If you hunt with a dog, include it in your fitness program. The dog probably is a little out of shape, too. Going out together will give you a chance to work with the dog on the signals and commands you'll expect him to follow. And you can bet that, after the dog gets used to going out at a regular time, it won't let you make excuses to slack off.

Getting in shape will make hunting more enjoyable, as well as safer. To keep it safe, wear hunter orange and observe the rules of safe gun handling. These can be summed up as one rule of thumb — always point the muzzle so that, when the gun discharges, it won't harm anything except what you want to shoot at.

Bill would curb agencies' year-end 'spending sprees'

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has co-sponsored legislation designed to help curb wasteful expenditures through outside contracting and year-end spending sprees by federal agencies.

Chief sponsor of the bill is Congressman Herbert E. Harris II (D-Va.), who is chairman of the Human Resources Subcommittee of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Congressman Ford, a ranking member of the committee, said that subcommittee studies have demonstrated that no one in the federal government really knows how much is being spent on outside contracting.

"Estimates run as high as $150 billion — more than one-fifth of the federal budget," Congressman Ford said. "The study also shows that much of this unnecessary spending occurs in the fourth quarter of the fiscal year, when agencies sometimes go on 'spending sprees' to use up their annual budget."

"We have tried to control federal spending by setting limits on the number of employees in given agencies. Now we find that some of them are contracting for outside services and workers to get around these personnel ceilings."

"Our bill will require agencies to use a 'cost-effective' test as the basis for such contracts, and will put controls on last minute (fourth-quarter) spending."

Congressman Ford said the bill contains the following specifics:

(1) Federal agencies could not obligate more than 20 percent of their annual budget in the final two months of the calendar year.

(2) The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) would lower the personnel ceiling of any agency which contracted for work previously done by Federal employees.

(3) The OMB would raise the personnel ceiling of any agency which determined that it did not have sufficient personnel to perform a function, and could demonstrate that such functions could be carried out more cost-effectively with regular employees than by contract.

(4) Performance appraisals and merit-pay raises would be judged in part on how well federal administrators stay within personnel ceilings on a cost-effective basis and in compliance with contracting rules.

Law alters retirement setup

A bill, which recently was signed into law, will allow persons who switch jobs and move from one public employee retirement system to another to buy back retirement vestment.

That's the word from State Rep. Edward Mahalak, who represents Western Wayne County's 38th District.

The law permits public employees who join a new retirement system to pay back any contributions withdrawn from their former retirement system, which would enable them to acquire vestment in the new one.

This would have to be done within five years of leaving the old system, or before Jan. 1, 1980.

Although service credit cannot be transferred from one system to another, years vested in the earlier system can be applied to the total service of a person in the retirement system from which he or she retires in order to make up the minimum needed for vestment in that system, Mahalak said.

The lawmaker said the legislature also has turned its attention to walnut trees — particularly the growing, buying and selling of black walnut trees.

Approved by the House was a bill to create a system under which the Department of Natural Resources would regulate the business of growing, buying and selling black walnut trees.

Because of their close-grained wood, used in making quality furniture and cabinets, black walnut trees have become increasingly valuable as they grow scarce, Mahalak said. Mills are willing to pay as much as $10,000 for a fine 100-year-old black walnut tree from which they can make as many as 100 paper-thin sheets to the inch to provide for expensive furniture, he added.

This has resulted in the increasing incidence of "timber thieves," who raid forests in the winter and fall and remove the walnut trees.

The purpose of the bill is to prevent this and preserve Michigan's dwindling black walnut trees," the Romulus Democrat said.

Realtors caution

Not all homes have increased in value

Doubling of average home prices over the past 10 years may have given some home sellers a distorted view of the market value of their property, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"Such increased valuation generally is applicable only for homes that have been maintained in near perfect condition or even improved during current ownership," said John Cole, WWOCBR president.

'Sellers should check the interior with equal thoroughness...'

"If the dwelling shows signs of aging or needed repairs, prospective buyers who remain interested will start subtracting from the asking price.

"While location has a great deal to do with home values, it doesn't necessarily follow that two supposedly identical homes next door to one another will command the same price. It depends on whether or not they are in equally good condition. With today's prices and high mortgage interest rates, buyers have become very concerned with added ownership costs that may suddenly arise after closing."

In working with their realtor to establish a fair market value, Cole said sellers should subject the property to the same type of tests that might be applied by a prospective buyer.

These might include a check of outside walls. Those made of wood may be probed with a knife for signs of dry-rot. Brick or stone walls may have the masonry tested to see if it crumbles easily indicating that water leakage may soon cause damage.

Brick walls may be checked for bulges that could mean structural defects or brick veneer coming loose. Joints and corners of non-masonry walls may be looked at to see that no gaps exist to allow framing to be exposed to weathering.

Wall paint may be examined to note any tendency toward blistering, flaking or peeling — a possible sign of missing vapor barriers.

Invariably, the roof will come in for close inspection and questions will be asked about its age. If it's asphalt shingle and more than 15 years old, buyers will think of the home as one requiring a new roof in a short time.

Exposed wood, particularly that near ground level, may be scanned for any indication of infestation by wood-boring insects such as termites or carpenter ants.

Small cracks in walks and driveways may be acceptable, but larger ones may suggest uneven settling and approaching need of costly repairs.

"Sellers should check the interior with equal thoroughness," Cole said. "While minor faults such as loose or missing cabinet knobs or cracked windows are suggestive of poor overall maintenance, they can be repaired at low cost. Buyers will be much more concerned with the soundness of the basic structure and the condition of the heating, plumbing and electrical systems."

Recognizing the faults in the home leaves the seller with the option of making needed repairs to bring the home up to a higher market value or accepting a lower price, Cole said.

"In today's market, there are some buyers looking for homes that can be obtained for a lower than normal price because of repair needs," he stated. "Usually, these are people with handyman skills that can do much of the renovative work themselves and when they ultimately sell the repaired home can realize the greatest return on their investment.

"However, other buyers may be completely the opposite and want only a home that can be expected to remain in perfect working order for several years after they move in."

"No two cases are exactly alike so in advising clients, our WWOCBR members increasingly are being asked by clients to help them examine the dollars and cents choices open to them."

"This usually boils down to whether or not various types of repairs will pay for themselves at settlement or if they will help the home sell faster."

Strikes

before a strike. Police, fire, and emergency medical employees, as well as supervisory employees, "confidential employees" and executive employees would not be allowed to strike. Any employees who do go on strike could lose their jobs, just as in the private sector.

The bill also would give Michigan Circuit Court judges the power to enjoin any strike which poses a "clear and present danger to the public health or safety."

A second Bullard proposal in the five-bill package would eliminate the protection of the teacher tenure act for teachers who go on strike. Once the strike is finished, however, full tenure protection would be returned.

A third bill in the package, sponsored by Rep. Nick Ciaramitaro of Warren, would require both sides to a public labor dispute to bargain for at least 16 hours a day, if a strike takes place. The Michigan Employment Relations Commission would be empowered to order a round-the-clock negotiations beginning 10 days before the threatened strike.

Ciaramitaro said his bill was designed to avoid strikes — or at least shorten them — by ensuring that intensive negotiations take place.

"Common sense will tell you that if you lock both sides up in a room for 16 to 24 hours a day, your strike won't last very long," Ciaramitaro said. "They've got to come to an agreement sooner or later in that situation."

The other key proposals in the five-bill package deal specifically with teacher strikes. Those bills, sponsored by State Rep. Joe Conroy (D-Flint), place mandatory economic sanctions on teachers and school boards when a school strike cuts into the 180-day school year. The proposals also prohibit extending the school year beyond the third Friday in June, and eliminate the possibility of school districts trying to "jam" the school year by teaching on weekends, holidays, or vacation days.

"School strikes are one of our most pressing problems," said Conroy, whose own Flint school district experienced a lengthy school strike this year. "By placing economic penalties on both sides, I think we can improve the collective bargaining process and avoid many of the strikes we have now."

"Without these changes in the law, there is often no reason for either side to bargain in good faith."

The earliest music in Japan came from early chants of the ancient Shinto religion, but the earliest influence on Japanese music as in most of the Far East, was from the Chinese. This happened as early as 300 A.D., after the conquest of Korea by China. The music filtered through Korea to Japan. As a result, Japanese music of the time was a Korean variation of the Chinese original. Still, the far eastern instruments are very similar, usually multi-stringed zithers, mouth organs, and various types of lutes. Japanese music was also heavily influenced by Indian music.

Space World, the new $32 million theme park planned on a 132-acre site 23 miles near New Boston, has begun site preparation and has scheduled a Memorial Day, 1980 opening. Space World Inc. has been under the direction of scientist-businessman Dr. Philip R. Austin since its inception. Dr. Austin, 43, has been president, treasurer and chairman of Space World's Board of Directors since planning, zoning and financing began three years ago.

He has consulted for NASA and private industry on the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo projects as well as on Mariner and Voyager.

Dr. Austin received his bachelor of aeronautical engineering degree from the University of Detroit and his graduate degree from the

Do 'fat cats' own America?

Even the most severe critics of American capitalism admit that the system has proved highly effective in creating wealth, but charge that it's concentrated in the hands of the wealthy few — so-called "fat cats", who presumably own most of American business and are the chief beneficiaries of profits.

Economists who have studied the subject maintain that this is myth, not fact. Charles Hull Wolfe, former president of the American Economic Foundation in New York City, says that, in one way or another, as many as 150 million Americans are investors and owners of business and supply the capital to build facilities and buy equipment and materials.

"If you have a savings account, own shares of stock or life insurance, or are in a pension fund — and that includes most adults — you are helping generate funds invested in business, and you benefit from business profits," Wolfe observed. "Employee pension funds own 35 percent of all equity in U.S. business, and could own 50 to 60 percent by 1985. As profits go up and down, pension fund income rises and falls, and it becomes easier or more difficult to pay benefits."

"You may not invest in any business directly," Wolfe added, "but your bank, savings and loan association and pension fund do make such investments, and the more profitable American business is, the more you benefit. There is a positive correlation between profits, wages and employment. As profits rise, so do employment and employee compensation."

Another misconception, Wolfe said, is the notion, revealed by opinion studies, that 30 percent or more of U.S. families are below the "poverty level" — earn less than $3,786 a year.

The U.S. Census Bureau shows that only 12 percent earn less than $3,786 for a family of four members. The bureau also reveals that most Americans are fairly well off — in the economic middle class, and 44 percent of U.S. families earn from $3,786 to $15,000 — while another 44 percent earn more than $15,000.

Edible plants can be found now

Looking for an outdoor activity that the whole family can enjoy? Then consider spending some of fall's nicer days outdoors harvesting wild edibles.

Extension specialist Paul Risk, an assistant professor in the department of park and recreation resources at Michigan State University, teaches students about wild edible plants in his wilderness survival classes. He says there are quite a few edible plants that anyone can easily learn to identify and enjoy.

One of these is the cattail. At this time of year, cattail roots are full of stored starch. When baked or roasted, they taste somewhat like roasted chestnuts.

Common fall fruits that you might find include apples and crabapples, wild grapes, hawthorn fruits, elderberries and rose hips.

You're most likely to find apples and crabapples around old farmsteads. Rose hips — the fruits of wild and domesticated roses — may be found there, too, or in old fence rows. They make a tasty jelly. Risk warns, however, that rose seeds have a pronounced laxative effect.

Hawthorns are easy to recognize because of their applelike fruits, red or red-orange and about as big as the end of a man's thumb, and their often spectacular spines. They, too, make excellent jelly and good munching right off the bush. The shrubs themselves may range from 3 to 12 feet tall.

Wild grapes, which seem to be fairly abundant in southern Michigan this year, tend to be a little on the pucky side, but they make excellent jelly. The woody vines with their large leaves and dark purple fruit clusters are easy to find twining through bushes and trees, around utility poles and on fences and other structures.

A different sort of edible wild fruit is the fruit of the milkweed plant. The pods should be harvested while they are green and firm — before they become filled with fluffy white stuff and seeds.

"If you wait too long, it's like eating a down sleeping bag," Risk observed. "The immature pods are an excellent food raw or cooked."

By this time of year, the pods are really too far along for eating. Keep them in mind for next year.

Wild plants also can be the source of tea-type beverages. Sassafras tea is most commonly made from the roots, but the leaves of the sassafras tree also make a pleasant, lemon-flavored drink. Dried, they can be used to thicken and flavor soups.

Another beverage plant is the staghorn sumac. Mash the clusters of fuzzy red fruit, Risk suggests. Then strain the fuzzies out by pouring the liquid through a piece of muslin. The reddish-colored, somewhat bitter, lemon-flavored solution that remains needs only some sugar to taste like lemonade.

The roots of chickory — those straggly-looking weeds with the purple-blue, daisylike flowers — can be sliced, roasted until they're deep brown, ground and used as a coffee substitute or extender.

Although there are edible fall mushrooms, it's easy to confuse edible species with poisonous ones, even experienced mushroom hunters occasionally make mistakes which can prove fatal. Beginners are advised to stick with puffballs. There are no poisonous puffballs in Michigan, Risk said.

There is the chance that the button stage of a poisonous mushroom can be mistaken for a puffball, however. To be sure that what you have is a puffball, cut it in half vertically, Risk advised. If it's a uniform white all the way through, with no signs of a cap and stem developing, it's a puffball and safe to eat. Puffballs are often fried in butter or chopped up and used like mushrooms in omelettes and other dishes.

Hickory nuts, butternuts and walnuts may be found in upland wooded areas. It takes a certain amount of work to coax the sweet nutmeats from their shells, but the flavor of these nuts is excellent. And the price is right.

Acorns from white oaks can be eaten raw, roasted for snacking or roasted and ground and baked in bread. Acorns from red oaks are very bitter. To tell which kind of oak you're dealing with, taste an acorn. "If it feels like you're being puckered inside out, it's a red oak," Risk quipped.

The list of edible plants goes on and on. For help in identifying them, Risk suggests Angiers' "Field Guide to Edible Wild Plants" and the series of books by Euell Gibbons. He also offers the following basic principles for harvesting wild edibles:

— Harvest basically healthy plants. But don't expect supermarket quality. If you demand every item to be picture perfect and free of insect damage, you'll come home empty handed.

— Avoid collecting along roads where plants might have been sprayed with pesticides. (City folks collecting in vacant lots might give a thought to passing dogs.)

— Avoid placing plants in plastic bags and warm places like car trunks. This speeds decomposition and lessens quality. The sooner after harvest that you prepare wild foods, the better they will be.

— Unless you're looking for a little extra protein in your diet, shake out as many bugs as you can when you harvest plants and wash plants later in a sink of water. The bugs — most of them, at any rate — will float to the surface.

"The most important rule of thumb is never to eat anything unless you're sure you know what it is and that it's edible," Risk emphasized. "If you have any doubt, don't eat it."

Speedy processing

Patti Hampton (foreground) of Belleville and Maureen McVeety, of Romulus operate the new word process system recently installed in the medical records department at Dearborn's Oakwood Hospital. Increased efficiency, easy editing, and less operator fatigue are the major advantages of this automated system, important features for a hospital such as Oakwood where nearly 70,000 reports are processed annually, including health records and patient histories dictated by physicians from one of 25 dictating stations throughout the hospital. Transcriptionists such as Patti and Maureen are able to produce an average of nearly 1,000 lines per day first onto a video screen and then transferred to paper by an automated printer at the rate of 55 characters per second.

Communal bathing has been popular out on the West Coast ever since the group encounter movement started at Esalen and Big Sur.

Now the "hot tubs" have moved east and become big sellers in cities like Chicago, Cleveland, Atlanta and Philadelphia. Whether the fad will last in the East as it has in the West remains to be seen.

The difference between communal bathing in Esalen or Berkeley, Calif., and Cleveland (for instance) is that the bathers splash around nude with their neighbors in Esalen and often in Berkeley. Clevelanders are not quite up to that.

The only thing, therefore, that makes hot tub bathing in Esalen the same as hot tub bathing in Cleveland is the hot water. Now we may find out whether it is the hot water or nudity that has made group bathing so popular.

Hot water bathing in wooden tubs is a Japanese connection, imported here after World War II. But it was only after nudity became a big thing that the hot tubs caught on with a wider public in California.

It is interesting to me that most of the people who are into communal bathing in the West don't make much of the sex aspect of bathing with their friends in the nude. What they mention most often is the great feeling they get from soaking in the hot water.

"It's really relaxing," said Melanie, a 25-year-old Berkeley secretary who has a redwood tub in her backyard. "It dissolves all the rigidities. When you get out you pulsate. It is really nice."

She does go on to admit, however, that the nude bath is a "good ice-breaker at parties."

"You focus on the whole person, not just on the face," said Janice, Melanie's roommate. "This can be very therapeutic in developing warmer, more meaningful relationships."

I wondered about this, so I asked a therapist whether nudity is as therapeutic as its advocates make out. He said he doubts it.

"The marathon nude encounter in the pool at first seems to help," he said. "Someone who hasn't been around human flesh in months is given a pseudo-intimacy. But often the subsequent depression leads the person into a worse state than he was in when he started out."

But, he said, there are a lot of Barnum and Bailey therapists around who cater to the immediate wish.

Therapy in many cases, he suggested, has become an "instant feel-good industry." Group nudity, most people would say, makes them feel good instantly.

A responsible practitioner, however, will study his patient's wish for intimacy. This therapist said, in the broad context of who he is and how he arrived at his situation.

This takes a lot of introspection and probing into the darkness of the subconscious and is not everybody's hot bath.

"Finding yourself" is the name of the group encounter game — and of the psychotherapies generally — but there has come to be a lot of doubt expressed over whether you find yourself by scrutinizing yourself more closely.

"A person's real self," said Northrop Frye of Harvard University, "is perhaps more clearly evoked by what other people think of him than his own analysis of himself."

Getting back to nudity, however, there may be something to the idea that nudity appeals to us because we are an emotionally starved nation. We don't touch much.

A U.S. singing group which went to Romania recently found it to be a nation of kissers. One of the national dances is the "perinita", or the kissing dance.

"We got enough kisses on our arrival in Romania," said one of the teen-age singers, "to make us feel loved for the rest of our stay."

Actually, there was little substantive communication between the Romanian people and their guests (neither could speak the other's language), but the language of affection bridged the gulf.

"All it took was a kiss from the mother of my host family when I stepped off the bus to make me forget I was homesick," said another girl singer.

While kissing and nudity may both answer our need for affection, I don't mean to say there isn't a big difference between the two. At least we old-fashioned Clevelanders would say so.

CITY OF ROMULUS NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING: FINAL DRAFT REVISION OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS ZONING ORDINANCE

The City of Romulus Planning Commission will hold a hearing to receive public comment concerning the Final Draft Revision of the City of Romulus Zoning Ordinance. This is the first complete revision of the Zoning Ordinance that has been undertaken since its adoption in May of 1971. The public hearing will be held on Monday, November 26, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers at the Romulus Civic Center, 11111 Wayne Road.

The entire text of the 1971 Zoning Ordinance has been reviewed and revised by the Planning Commission to the extent that the proposed Final Draft Revision, in substantial part, represents a new ordinance for regulating the use and development of land within the City of Romulus. In summary, modifications were made to better organize and clarify the language of the text and to bring the City's Ordinance into compliance with the requirements of the recently amended zoning enabling legislation for cities, Michigan Public Act 207 of 1921, as amended.

No zoning district boundaries, as indicated on the Official Zoning Map of the City of Romulus, are proposed for change in the Final Draft Revision; however, a new large-lot, single family residential district, RE Rural Estate, has been added to the list of zoning districts, while another district has been deleted, AG Agriculture. Other changes from the existing Zoning Ordinance include the following: procedures and standards for uses subject to special approval have been established; landscaping requirements for new or improved development and for parking areas have been set forth; industrial performance compliance procedures have been detailed; and the procedures and requirements for imposing performance guarantees have been established.

A copy of the Final Draft Revision of the Zoning Ordinance may be examined between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday at the offices of the City Clerk, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan.

Hope for record crowds

Ski areas push safety in 1980 season

Half of the 57 state ski areas open to the public this winter are hoping to attract record crowds by offering improvements such as new lodging, runs and lifts.

Although looking for increases, most major lodges are hesitant to project how business and the number of skiers will compare with last winter's all-time record. Last winter, it is estimated that nearly 400,000 downhill skiers spent $145 million in Michigan. So far, 1979 Michigan tourism is down an estimated 6 percent from a year ago.

With gasoline more available now than at any time since early spring in Michigan and the remainder of the Midwest, skiers should have confidence in fuel availability.

"Along with the physical improvements, skiers will find an increased emphasis on safety at many Michigan lodges," a spokesman said. "Brochures from nine of 13 major ski lodges polled have warnings about the 'inherent risks of injury.' Two of the areas which do not include such notices will post similar warnings at lifts and on runs."

This new approach is the result of a landmark Vermont court ruling that resorts could be liable for damages stemming from skiing accidents.

"It also has spawned a bill backed by the Michigan ski industry which will be introduced in the Legislature this fall," he added.

The proposal is patterned after legislation pending in 13 states and on the books in 17 others. Michigan's proposed law grants resorts immunity from skier lawsuits as long as certain requirements are met. Those included marking open and closed areas and all man-made obstacles, showing degrees of difficulty on all runs and placing trail maps in the ski area.

The bill also calls for fining skiers for recklessness on slopes or lifts or for leaving an accident scene.

Automobile Club of Michigan 1979-80 ski guide lists one less lodge open to the public than last season. Maplehurst near Kewadin was open to the public last year but now will operate for groups only.

The average cost of daytime weekend lift fees this year rose 50 cents to $7.85. Lift ticket costs range from $2 at the Upper Peninsula's Crystella Ski area near Crystal Falls to $15 at Sugar Loaf near Cedar in northwest Lower Michigan. Skiing at city-owned Petoskey Winter Sports Park is free.

Of the 28 ski areas with major improvements this season, seven have upped lodge space, six feature new downhill runs and eight offer cross-country ski trails.

Largest pre-winter expansion is at Sugar Loaf. A $3.5 million project added 100 lodge rooms to triple at-slope sleeping capacity to 1,000 persons. That ski resort's dining room and cafeteria are doubled in size, too. A new skier service area has been added.

Pre-season reservations also point to a record-setting year on the slopes by skiers.

Ten of West Michigan's 24 lodges offer at-slope rooms with the deluxe accommodations many skiers prefer, and those contacted say room reservations are equal to or ahead of last year's pace.

Boyne Highlands near Harbor Springs has booked nearly all its rooms for the Christmas holidays. The pre-winter booking pace at Boyne Mountain, near Boyne Falls, equals last year's. Bookings are up 17 percent at Crystal Mt. near Thompsonville and 40 percent at Sugar Loaf.

In East Michigan, a favorite of skiers seeking fun without the cost of luxury resorts, many operators of the region's 12 areas feel tourism will continue the recovery begun in July.

Skyline near Grayling predicts crowds equal to last winter, while Mt. Maria near Spruce expects a 50 percent increase due to marketing and slope improvements. Bintz Apple Mt. near Saginaw also expects a business increase.

Southeast Michigan's eight lodges hope to gain business from those planning trips closer to home this winter. Boasting the state's best snowmaking systems, they usually open first, are close to major urban areas and with one exception, feature night skiing.

Mt. Brighton's season pass requests are up 24 percent from last season. While Alpine Valley near Milford reports an increase in season pass inquiries. Also expecting a good winter is Mt. Grampian near Oxford which upped rental stock 30 percent.

With the state's highest vertical drops and accommodations ranging from lodges and condominiums to package rates at nearby motels, the Upper Peninsula's 14 ski areas look for a good season after a poor summer.

At Blackjack near Bessemer, reservations are four to five times ahead of last year. Bookings are 8 to 10 percent ahead of last season at Indianhead Mt. Near Wakefield.

Improvements skiers can expect at lodges this winter are listed below by region:

West Michigan — Crystal Mountain, Thompsonville, eight condominiums offering 24 rooms, each room with whirlpool bath, plus six chalets, boosting lodging capacity 68 percent; Hilton Shanty Creek, Bellaire, 40 deluxe rental units and a ski touring center; Nub's Nob, Bellaire, five beginner-intermediate runs from 1,000 feet to three-fourths of a mile long, served by a three-place chairlift; Boyne Mountain, 26 miles of cross-country trails and a touring center with restaurant, saunas and 1,000 sets of rental skis, and Swiss Valley, Jones, parking lot doubled and a man-made intermediate-advanced hill with a 220-foot vertical drop.

Mount Mancelona, two dormitory cabins with 20 bunks each, 12 miles of cross-country and snowshoe trails; Mt. Mica, Charlevoix slope lighting increased 10 to 15 times and a 2.5-mile cross-country trail; Royal Valley, Buchanan, two miles of cross-country trails, 50 pairs of touring and 300 sets of downhill rental skis and a 6,000-square-foot ski shop, Cannonsburg, snowmaking capacity doubled; Traverse City Holiday, a dining area seating 125; Pando, Rockford, a cross-country trail and rentals; Middleville, a poma lift replacing a rope tow, and Winterskol, Lakeview, two runs and increased snowmaking.

East Michigan — Mount Maria, snowmaking capacity doubled; Bintz Apple Mountain, snowmaking and rental stocks upped 20 percent; Tyrolean Resort, Gaylord, 24 lodge rooms, dining room, 25-by-50 foot indoor pool, two 2,500-foot-long intermediate runs served by a poma lift, plus 100 sets of downhill and 50 sets of cross-country rental skis, and Mott Mountain, Farwell, a 40-by-80-foot warming house with snack bar seating 130.

Southeast Michigan — Alpine Valley, beginner and intermediate slopes enlarged, 1,000-foot-long beginner run and a refurbished lodge; Mount Holly, a 1,000-foot-long beginner run served by a two-place chairlift, snowmaking increased 25 percent; Mount Grampian, four racketball courts and one squash court with sauna and whirlpool bath, snowmaking upped 50 percent; Irish Hills, Onsted, under new owners with three miles of cross-country trails and new rental stock, and Mount Brighton, a new membership building.

Upper Peninsula — Ski Brule, Iron River, 13 chalets doubling at-slope lodging capacity, a five kilometer cross-country trail; Blackjack, a 16,000-square-foot meeting facility with shops, cafeteria seating upped 40 percent, 10 rental units and a children's ski school, and Mount Zion, Ironwood, a two-place chairlift.

Charter

It appears the time for change in Romulus is upon us.

For some time, residents objecting to the questionable politics practiced in the community, have refused to consider the question of an extended term for the mayor, and the staggering of terms for city council.

But with the advent of a new 'era' in Romulus, an era of restrained politics, and restrained politicians, maybe the time is ripe to investigate the possibility of further stabilizing the city by allowing a mayor more time to pursue his programs without the necessity of running for election every two years.

We think the plan has merit now.

At the recent Meet your Candidate's Night, one candidate running for office made the suggestion that the community would be better off without the elected position she was seeking.

The candidate was Helen Gallien, and the point she was making is that the Romulus form of government with its elections every two years, and directly-elected treasurer and city clerk, produced a government less directly responsive to the community.

We share that opinion with Mrs. Gallien.

But we would go even further.

We suggest that with the election now behind us, the city council should place the question of a Charter Review Commission on the ballot, and once that commission is established, they should urge several important changes in the Romulus charter.

The mayor should be elected to a four-year term, the council should be elected to staggered terms with the three highest vote getters every two years, winning four-year terms on council. That system still requires a council election each year but only four candidates are required to run. A continuity of leadership is then established that improves the likelihood that the community will continue to move forward.

Also the offices of city clerk and treasurer should be made appointive by the mayor with confirmation by council. This way, both of those offices would be directly accountable to the mayor. Past attempts to use those positions for political maneuvering indicate that those offices were not above the practice.

We think that these changes would substantially improve the governing process in Romulus and make the citizens better represented with clear, well-defined lines of authority.

What do you think?

Income tax

We have heard that Wayne County is considering the imposition of a county-wide income tax to bail itself out of its long standing financial problems.

While we have been unable to find anyone at the county who is willing to publicly confirm the possibility of such a tax, we have been told by some who have chosen to remain unnamed, that a county income tax is an alternative that has been discussed.

On the surface, the passage of such a tax would appear to represent the action of men of courage, given today's bleak economic outlook. And since men of courage are in short supply in county government, we would not expect to see such a drastic, politically damaging, decision coming down. But just in case Coleman Young is able to instill such courage, we will comment.

The problem with Wayne County, is not, and has never been, a lack of adequate funds. The problem is, and has been, lack of management.

And that lack of management has created a private country club of burned-out politicians, who now cry wolf. And wolf they should cry because if the voters ever wake up, those many comfortable former politicians who now drain Wayne County of a substantial amount of money, will have to find a new job, if they can.

So rather than object to a proposed Wayne County Income tax, we will support its introduction.

Nothing will get the attention of the voters like a new grab by the county for our pocketbooks.

Traffic violations decriminalized

By WILLIAM KEITH
State Representative
33rd District

A new state law to decriminalize minor traffic violations is now in effect. As of August 1, minor traffic violations such as speeding or making an illegal turn are now civil rather than criminal offenses.

The purpose of the new law is to make it easier for motorists to deal with minor traffic tickets and to eliminate crowded court dockets which have prevented enforcement of some traffic laws.

A motorist can now handle tickets by mail or send someone else to court to make the payment. To challenge the ticket, a motorist may write a letter to the judge requesting a reduction in the fine.

If the ticket is completely ignored, the individual's drivers license will be revoked automatically.

Most-traffic offenses are affected by the new legislation, including all minor offenses such as parking violations, speeding, illegal turns, failure to obey turn signals, obstructing the flow of traffic, disobeying a traffic signal, motorcycle and bicycle violations and driving with a missing license plate.

Previously, all moving violations were criminal offenses. If a motorist paid the fine or pleaded guilty, that person had a criminal record. Contesting the ticket meant taking valuable time to go to court. Court dockets became jammed with motorists who failed to appear in court (since it was a criminal charge, the defendant could not be declared guilty if he or she was not there).

Under the new system, most traffic violations are civil infractions. The motorist who pays the fine admits responsibility but has no criminal record. The offender has the option of presenting his or her own case to try to reduce the fine — a maximum $100 plus court costs up to $100.

The party may still go to court, but if he or she does not appear or does not respond at all to the ticket, the motorist may be declared responsible, be assessed a fine and have the license revoked immediately.

In both systems, violations cost points against the individual's driver license, and appeals to high courts are possible.

License revocation is handled in essentially the same manner. The court notifies the accused 30 days after failure to answer a ticket to appear or to comply with a court order. The accused then has 10 days to respond before the court notifies the Secretary of State to revoke the license.

The difference is that violators can now be declared "responsible," be assessed fines and have their licenses revoked even if they ignore the court. Previously, a driver license could be suspended for failure to show up at a hearing, but the driver could not be declared guilty or fined for the traffic violation.

Offenses not affected are the more serious violations such as driving under the influence of alcohol or controlled substance, failure to stop at the scene of an accident, drag racing, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, failure to carry signed registration and failure to replace a lost or illegible driver license.

These offenses contribute to a criminal record and most have a maximum fine of $100 and/or 90 days in jail.

Under the new law, careless driving is a civil infraction and reckless driving is a misdemeanor offense. The difference is that the reckless driver intends to drive that way.

Eluding a police officer becomes a more serious offense under the new law. The offense was previously subject to a two-point penalty; now it costs four.

DuPont millions buy only 4 HUD hours

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

It appears that nothing is sacred.

According to a recent report out of Washington, it now costs more than one cent to mint each penny.

Why? Part of the problem might be those very regulations that are turning us into penny-pinchers. The Department of Commerce estimates that the copper industry will have to pay $3.5 billion to comply with government regulations between now and 1987, raising the price of copper 43 percent above what those prices would be without the regulations.

Ironically, it seems that the only advocates of new regulation are either non-producers or government. And it is apparent why those regulations have met with such fervent support from both groups.

Those regulations create new jobs. But unfortunately, nothing more.

Forget about an old fashion concept called 'cost effectiveness.' Forget about fiscal responsibility. Just continue to crank out regulations and everything will be all right.

A fine solution for the very short run, but disaster over the long haul.

If we concede, and most of us will, that private business has been, and will most likely remain, the very backbone of a democratic system, then we must also concede that a healthy private sector creates a healthy public sector.

But today, government seems to have gotten the message mixed up.

Hell-bent on new regulation, government is quickly becoming the employer of last resort as the private sector continues to reel under the massive new and costly regulations which do little to improve the lives or safety of our citizens.

A few years ago, the Federal government created the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), to protect American workers.

In spite of the expenditure of billions of dollars, today statistics indicate that workers are no safer than before OSHA.

Recently, President Carter created the Department on Energy. More billions have been spent for that agency, and the only net effect was the addition of nearly $.25 to the cost of each gallon of gas. The agency has not drilled one new oil well, or in any other way contributed to the resolution of the energy crisis.

President Carter has also created the new Department of Education. That agency will have a budget in the billions, will employ nearly 30,000, but will ultimately fail, just as the federal government's many other grand money spending schemes, have failed.

And they will fail because government has never learned how to operate a business.

If the corner hardware store ignores good business practice, it will go out of business. If the butcher fails to remain responsive to his customers, customers will go somewhere else and the butcher will be out of business. And if the local auto dealership does not remain competitive in his pricing of goods and services, he will be out of business. But only the government can ignore all the basic tenets of business and still survive.

Government will survive because it will not allow itself to run out of our money.

Recently the federal government stated that private business was rolling in money, money, money.

But a look at the situation will reveal an interesting fact.

In 1978, DuPont paid dividends to stockholders amounting to $288 million.

A lot of money? Of course. But by whose standards?

That $288 million DuPont paid to share holders would have kept the Department of Health Education and Welfare going for only 4 hours.

So where is the money?

There must be something basically wrong with a system founded on private enterprise, when just one of many federal agencies can gobble up in four hours, what it takes one of America's largest companies to make in a year.

But more importantly, what did HUD do with that obscene budget aimed at improving the American lifestyle?

It destroyed our cities, corrupted our politicians, and taught too many, that government is only the friend of bigger government.

We the People hit School Superintendent over flyer

Editor:

Due to the unfortunate misunderstanding regarding the school district's refusal to distribute "Meet the Candidates" flyers, throughout the schools, we had only 125 people attend this important civic function.

We the People is a non-profit, non-partisan civic organization, dedicated to promoting good government through community awareness. We also serve as a channel of communication for citizens to approach their city schools and government.

The bi-annual "Meet the Candidates Night," co-sponsored by We the People and the Romulus Roman, in conjunction with the Romulus Rotary, is the single most important service we perform on a regular basis.

We assumed, due to the nature of the event and the stated goals of our organization, that the flyers would be delivered to all school children prior to the event.

Unfortunately, we were not aware of the restrictions placed on school deliveries and were never made aware of them. A simple phone call would have allowed us to take other steps to have them distributed in time.

In the future, we may sponsor similar functions, and would like to formally request clearance at this time or at least be advised if it is not granted.

Question of the week:

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE RECENTLY INTRODUCED BILL THAT WOULD LEVY A 10¢ TAX ON ALL CHECKS AND NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS TRANSACTED IN THE STATE OF MICHIGAN?

With the passing of the Headlee tax limitation amendment and other inflationary pressures that citizens are feeling today, it was a surprise to many when a bill was introduced in the Legislature that would levy a 10¢ tax on checks and other negotiable instruments cashed in this state.

Opponents feel that senior citizens and middle-income families would suffer the most if this concept became law. Supporters say the tax would provide funding for home heating assistance programs and would generate close to $150-175 million in tax revenues for the state. (Home Heating Assistance only cost the state $35 million last year) Would you favor this tax?

To give your answer, please phone Rep. Bob Law on Saturday, Nov. 10th, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. at: 422-0750. He will personally take your calls and listen to your views and comments.

For advice

Ask

Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to Ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol:

I wish you would print this letter for other people that are in my situation and maybe your advice will help other fathers to see what is apparently not visible to them.

We recently married.

My husband's 18½ year old son is living with us.

He came to live with us because he wanted to attend a better school district. About 5 months into school he decided to quit and get a full time job. Five months went by and he never worked, just sat around the house (while we both worked) created messes and watched TV.

Finally he obtained a job and now works when he feels like it. Some weeks he sits home 2 days a week. He does not pay any room and board because his father does not insist. He rarely does anything around the house.

His father does not require him to help out, to maintain any house rules, curfew rules or clean up his own messes. That is where I fit in. I clean and wash his clothes, plus work full time and attend school.

Do you think I am wrong to feel cheated? I cannot say anything to this boy. He is totally independent. I feel that he should be required to work full-time, pay room and board if he is to stay with us or in the alternative find himself his own apartment.

The boy is not learning any responsibility and the problems he is creating that I resent are somewhat causing problems with my husband and I.

WHAT SHOULD I DO?

Dear What,

How can you call this boy independent when according to your letter, he is so dependent?

Any 18 year old who works when he wants to, does not contribute to household chores or expenses, cannot be called independent. Furthermore, this type of dependency is unhealthy for all concerned.

You tell me in your letter that you cannot talk to the boy. How about your husband? (Can you talk with him?) If he feels that he is helping his son, he must be made to understand that he is doing him no favors. In fact, he not only is doing him no favors, he could hardly do more harm.

Sometimes when there is a divorce which involves children, parents (particularly the parent who does not get custody) feel that they must make it up to the child for breaking up the family unit.

They try to do this by being overly permissive, generous and trying to be a friend rather than a parent. This simply conveys to the child that, in fact, something extra is owed to him/her and they grow into lazy, dependent adults who feel the world owes them a living.

I am going to suggest conjoint counseling for you and your husband. For your husband so he can resolve his feelings about his divorce and responsibilities to his son, and for you to get a greater understanding of your individual rights as a person and for the two of you to open up communication in your marriage.

Since there is no indication from your letter in what area you live, try calling Community Information Services at 833-3430 for a counseling center nearest you.

In the meantime, you are an adult and there is no reason you have to do the cleaning and washing for anyone against your will. Good luck.

Dear Carol,

I give my two children (ten & eleven years old) a regular allowance. I want them to understand spending wisely, planning for something they want and then making the purchase, counting change, etc.

A problem exists once we get to the store. Sales individuals do not seem able to accept kids as customers. My kids wait in line and are never waited upon. They stand there with their money and are ignored. What should they or I do when this happens.

Parent

Dear Parent,

Your policy seems good and I commend you for it. As for dealing with rude or insensitive clerks, I suggest you deal with it in a forthright, open and polite manner. You can say to the salesperson (and teach your child by example), "Excuse me, please, I/my son/daughter would like to be waited on." It is sometimes hard for children to speak up to adults but with politeness they have every right to and should be taught to do so.

Scenario of spending

By EDWIN FEULNER

Despite studying at The Wharton School in Philadelphia and at the London School of Economics, I am just as baffled as the man next door by what passes as frugality in the Nation's Capital.

Take a recent typical week:

1) The House voted itself a 5.5 percent pay raise, putting their salaries over the $60,000-per-year mark. Guess it takes big bucks these days to figure out how to spend our tax dollars. The Senate, to its credit, balked at the increase, leaving the matter unresolved.

2) Then the frugal-minded House of Representatives gave its stamp-of-approval to creation of a new cabinet level Department of Education.

The Senate had previously approved the bill. The department will have some 18,000 employees (to start) and a first-year budget of $14 billion. One of the arguments made by the Administration in its lobbying for the bill was that streamlining the education bureaucracy — previously part of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare — would save taxpayers an estimated $100 million a year, or more. In other words, we gotta spend $14 billion to save $100 million.

Beginning to get the picture?

3) The same week, the House approved its budget resolution for fiscal year 1980, which began October 1. The resolution calls for expenditures of $548.2 billion and revenues of $519.3 billion — meaning a deficit of nearly $29 billion.

Moreover, as the Heritage Foundation's Walker Fellow in Economics, Eugene McAllister, pointed out in a recent monograph, the budget resolution does not include a variety of "off-budget" items, such as the Postal Service. This would add another $11.6 billion to the deficit, says McAllister.

4) And earlier in the week, the House had voted — for the second time this year — to raise the national debt ceiling. The cumulative national debt now authorized by our penny-pinching representatives is (hold your breath!) $879,000,000,000. That's 879 billion.

Five years ago, in fiscal 1974, the debt was a miserly $475 billion. In just five years, it has nearly doubled. Now, I might remind you, this is from people who claim to be anti-Big Government, and a Congress that has billed itself as being austerity-minded.

Oh well, just a typical week here in this sleepy Southern town.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research organization.)

Reflections

Man's best friend!

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

My little grandson was lying on the floor staring into the flames in the fireplace. George (our dog) was lying close beside him. But George wasn't staring. He was snoring. He does a lot of that since he reached ten years of age last week. No one else was home.

"Are you scared, Grandma?" Mike asked.

"No, I'm not scared. Are You?"

He threw his skinny little arm around the dog and said, "Nope, as long as we have old George here I'm not scared of nothing."

I didn't want to rob him of his faith but I knew that George wasn't much of a protector, not even when he was young. Oh, he used to show a great deal of bravado and big ugly teeth to my friends and neighbors, but when there was real danger, old George was hiding somewhere safe.

I remember one evening about eight years ago when everyone was gone but my youngest son and me ... and George. I had sent my boy to bed and I was sitting on the telephone gossipping away when a huge crash came from upstairs.

Hanging up on my friend I rushed through the living room and met my little kid as he tumbled off the last step. His eyes were popping out of his head, and his teeth grabbing at his tongue.

There's someone up there ... he chattered.

"Nonsense," I said in my most reassuring tones, "how could anyone get up there without our knowing it?"

"I heard someone, honest, mom, I heard someone say 'are you there?'" His eyes kept popping at me and his tongue kept getting caught between his chattering teeth. His terror was apparent, so I turned and grabbed George.

"Go get 'em, George," I said. But he stood at the foot of the stairs and stared up there without our knowing it?"

"Go on, get 'em!" I said again, and shoved his backend up the stairs. He whined and dug his toes into the carpet, his backend shoving right through his collar. Suddenly, his tail shot straight out, his hair stood on end, and he growled.

"See, Mom, there is someone up there ..." my little one whispered from somewhere behind me.

"Go get 'em, George," I said again while pushing away on his rear end.

He just stood there growling, tail pointing away at my solar plexus, and his hair standing straight up.

"Come on you dumb dog," I said, and got in front of him grabbing his collar and pulling him up. My little kid crept along behind. George kept growling.

As we entered my kid's room a little voice spoke, "Are you there?" George leaped from my grasp and darted under the bed, with my little kid following right behind him.

"Are you there?" the little voice came again. George growled and thumped his tail and my little kid started to cry. Goose pimples went up and down my spine, and the voice came again. "Are you there?"

Out from under the bed streaked George and down the stairs he gallumped. Feeling pretty eerie I began to drag out my kid and follow when a bunch of clothes on the floor in the corner spoke, "Hey, why doncha answer?"

"That's Tom on my Walkie-Talkie," my kid shouted, bounding from under the bed.

A loud bark from the door made me turn just in time to see old courageous George charging at the lump in the corner, ripping it apart with his big teeth.

He got the Walkie-Talkie! With courage he demolished it! What a protector!

DOUG TOLSON

Tolson is state cross country champ

Bomulus Public Library
11121 Wayne Road
Bomulus, Mich. 48174

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Doug Tolson, considered one of if not the best prep distance runner produced in Michigan, reclaimed the coveted Class A state cross country crown Saturday at Howell, Mich.

The 17-year-old Wayne Memorial senior, by duplicating the feat he first accomplished a year ago, became only one of two runners ever to win the Class A title in successive years.

Tolson took charge early and stormed to a 14:28.8 finish for the three-mile course in Howell, crossing the finish line ahead of the prestigious pack. His winning time was 30 seconds faster than the winner of the team championship.

(The Michigan High School Athletic Association stages two races: one pits the individuals whose teams did not qualify for the state finals; the other is for the regional qualifiers.)

"It has been a great honor for me to coach an athlete of Doug Tolson's ability and calibre," said Wayne Memorial Coach Ernie Righetti. "Most coaches wait a lifetime and then don't have a runner with Tolson's capabilities or potential."

"I was fortunate to get someone like Tolson at an early stage," Righetti added.

Righetti said that most of the college scouts who watched Tolson at the state finals were awed at his magnificent performance. "In fact," Righetti said, "they said that Doug could be the best Michigan kid ever." Tolson has gone undefeated for the past two years, winning every tournament and invitational he has competed in. He wrapped up his third Great Lakes 8 Conference title earlier in the week, a tune-up for state.

Despite Tolson's first place, Wayne trailed defending champ, Fordson, in the final standings. Fordson garnered 39 points to repeat as league champ. Wayne was runner-up with 75 points.

The Zebras were ahead of Taylor Center, Taylor Truman, Riverview, Monroe, Wyandotte and Lincoln Park, who finished in that order.

Other finishers for Wayne were: Andy Stopchinski (14), Doug Wellman (19), Mike Tolson (20), Chris Strome (23), Bob Swain (23), Allan Spencer (41).

Wayne wound up with a 5-2 dual meet record in the league, but they were 7-5 on the season.

A game few will forget

By TOM MOORADIAN

If you were a Westland John Glenn football fan you probably said: "Unbelievable."

And that was probably the word Wayne Memorial's subdued fans used as they quietly, single-filed their way out of the stadium Friday night.

A last play decided it. Doomed Wayne. Resurrected John Glenn. And the controversy surrounding "the clock" buzzed through the rows of humanity — some 5,000 who had gathered to witness the Ninth Annual Fall Classic.

Glenn Coach Chuck Gordon must have felt the way Bo Schemmehler did nearly a week before when the Wolverines pulled out at last play 27-21 victory over Indiana in Ann Arbor.

And the simile holds true for Wayne Coach Floyd Carter and Indiana's Lee Corso.

Ahead 7-3, Wayne saw its hopes of ending Glenn's fine year domination of the series when Rick Discher scored on a broken play from the four as time ran out. That gave the Westlanders their closest win, 9-7, over the Zebras who have not beaten their natural rivals since 1973.

Irate Wayne fans argued "that the clock didn't move during the last three Glenn plays." In fact, the clock was turned back. The reason: the official time is kept on the field by the referees and the one displayed on the field had been corrected to reflect the exact amount of time left.

And, despite all of the controversy, one would have to agree with Carter's assessment of the game.

"That both teams played their hearts out," Carter said in a lockerroom where there weren't many dry eyes. "no one likes to lose ... and that's especially true on a last play of the game. But it happened. 'You have to give Glenn a lot of credit for not quitting. 'But, believe me, I love these kids. What can you do? Say? Or how do you make them understand that they did their job out there and we're all proud of them?'"

Ironically, Wayne helped in its own demise. After getting an opening kick-off "gift" in the form of a fumble pounced on by Mike Wilson that led to Rick Rogers' 13-yard touchdown, the Zebras became over-anxious in the last quarter and committed numerous mistakes. In fact they were slapped with 60 yards in penalties in the second half alone. Some of those infractions were fatal.

Glenn got on the scoreboard in the third quarter when John Johnston booted a 25-yard field goal with 32 seconds left. The series that revitalized the Rockets was a 16-play, 63-yards of grueling football, climaxed by Discher's dash from the pocket into the end zone.

Bedlam broke out.

But it was the sort that excluded the chaotic.

"You know we didn't get one single call in connection with that game," said a Wayne police spokesman. "The fans dispersed and that was it. I think they all saw two excellent football teams."

And that's the way it should be.

Now that I've had my say, here's Jim Bradley who has covered John Glenn's football team, with his comments:

Glenn's Coach Chuck Gordon and Wayne's Floyd Carter are two superlative coaches with tremendous football programs. The excitement and enthusiasm generated by the grid rivalry is good for the community and good for sports in general.

Never tell these two top-rated, quality individuals that football doesn't teach character to those who participate. Both had definite things to say after the "big game" Friday night.

"I'm really happy for our players that we won this game," said the jubilant Gordon, whose Rockets ended with a 4-5 record, their first losing record in six years. "There were people who had completely written this team off but it was a credit to our players that they didn't fold up."

Glenn suffered many injuries along the way and lost a 26-0 decision to top-ranked Dearborn Edsel Ford in the season opener. Their schedule ranks second to none and two of their other losses were to league champions, Redford Union and Livonia Stevenson.

"I thought our defense did a great job in containing Rick Rogers and Don Shumpert," Gordon said. "They are outstanding running backs and it's almost impossible to completely stop them. We bent some, but we didn't break, and that's the key. Holding a good team like Wayne to only seven points is a great accomplishment, I believe."

Gordon praised his staff for a job well done. "I think we have a great staff of quality people. Dan Henry, our defensive coordinator did an especially good job. Jeff Mate, who coaches our defensive ends, Dennis Healy, our defensive line coach, and Jim Juras, our defensive back coach, did an outstanding job preparing our team for this game," Gordon said.

"I was proud of our player's poise in the last seconds of the game. They kept their cool and carried out their assignments in getting the game-winning touchdown after time had run out," said

It was this close

The scoreboard tells the story...or does it? The cold figures say Westland John Glenn won a 9-7 victory over Wayne Memorial. But it doesn't say the caliber of play the two arch rivals displayed on the gridiron or anything about the fine sportsmanship the two teams showed in a game that went right down to the wire and as emotional as any athletic competition can be.

Glenn's last play dooms Wayne, 9-7

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

The thrill of victory, the agony of defeat!

It was all graphically portrayed on the worn, wind-swept football field Friday night at Wayne Memorial High School. Strong, mature Wayne players were on their knees weeping, exhausted, jubilant Glenn players, moved to their feet by sheer exhilaration of victory, were drowned in a sea of humanity that cascaded from the bench and visiting stands.

Wayne led the entire game, 7-0, scoring on the first series after Glenn fumbled the opening kickoff. Stung by five consecutive defeats by the red and white of its cross-town rivals, Wayne stubbornly, doggedly stopped drive after drive by the Rockets. Just four seconds remained on the scoreboard clock as the Wayne defenders dug in on their own four-yard-line and time for only one play.

Wayne clung desperately to a 7-3 lead as junior quarterback Rick Discher faded back for one last-ditch pass by Glenn. Tight End Bill Dye, the intended receiver, was legally knocked down and all other receivers were covered by the Zebra's swarming defense that flooded their right half of the field.

A lunging Wayne lineman missed tackling Discher when the agile quarterback side-stepped — but it looked all over for Glenn.

But wait.

Discher's quick footwork broke him into the open as he started to his right — and suddenly there wasn't a Wayne player in front of him for what seemed miles away.

There was no time left on the scoreboard clock.

What looked like a perfectly defended play suddenly was an overshifting alignment by the Zebras and Discher raced around right end and into the endzone for the winning points. That's when strong young men, garbed in the familiar blue and gold of Wayne Memorial, openly wept after playing their hearts out.

That's when the "never-say-die" Rockets of Chuck Gordon once again knocked the teeth out of the "jaws of defeat" to claim a last-minute victory. That's when the flood of humanity poured over Discher and the rest of the jubilant Glenn players in the endzone as instant hysteria broke loose. Bedlam reigned!

Few of the rabid fans that packed the stands glanced up at the scoreboard — and there was no need for the extra-point kick. They were all too aware of the final result: Visitors 9, Wayne 7.

In marked contrast to the back-pounding, whooping, hilarious victory celebration in a pile of human bodies in the north endzone, a startled, anguished hush fell over the Wayne fans and players as the knowing, irritating reality of defeat set in.

"From my vantage point on the field, I thought we had the play perfectly covered," said a distraught Floyd Carter, who saw his Zebras fall to the Rockets for the sixth consecutive time.

"We knew they would probably go to their big tight end (Bill Dye) and we were right. Our defensive end, Bill Wilson did a tremendous job in legally knocking him down and we

For the 6th straight time

A cheering and jubilant Westland John Glenn football team surrounds head coach Chuck Gordon who accepts the Ninth Annual Wayne Jaycees Fall Football Classic Trophy from a Jaycee representative. For six consecutive years, the Westlanders have stymied Wayne

Wayne wins Western Wayne title

Belleville's Laura Kuhr picks up 2 gold medals

Paced by a record-setting medley relay team and three other victories, Wayne Memorial emerged as the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving champion for the third time in four years.

Coach Jim McPartlin put together a medley relay team of Kathy Batterson, Mary Jo Mason, Lori Miles and Lisa Mondock who turned in a sterling 2:04.5 to win the event and establish a meet record at Westland John Glenn.

That victory put the Zebra swimmers in the lead which they never surrendered. Wayne finished with 315 points, 87 more than its closest challenger, Westland John Glenn, which has 228. Belleville was third with 167, followed by Riverview (164), Wyandotte (105), and Garden City East (95). Garden City West and Livonia Churchill were tied for seventh with 86 points.

"The difference this year was our solid depth," McPartlin said. "We had four first places, but we also had four kids qualify for the finals in all except three events."

Belleville also turned in with four firsts and had the meet's lone double winner in Laura Kuhr. Miss Kuhr produced the best time in the 50-yard freestyle when she touched in at 26.0, then she came back with a 1:06.4 to top the field in the 100-yard backstroke.

Belleville, noted for its excellence in diving, continued that tradition as Andrea Whittico piled up 347.8 points to capture the gold. Runner-up was Glenn's Janet Borgerding who trailed the champ by a mere 7.6 points. In third place was Belleville's Lori Vichy.

Belleville's fourth win came in the 200-yard individual medley where Martha Rysnar beat Wayne's Kathy Batterson to the wire.

Wayne received an outstanding effort from Lori Miles in the 100-yard butterfly. Miss Miles dueling Glenn's Karin Stover to the wire and was given the nod over the Westlander by a fraction of a second. Miss Miles' winning time was 1:08.2.

Stover earlier claimed the gold medal for the 200-yard freestyle, an event she won in 2:10.8.

Gretchen Batterson went home with a first place. Her 6:00.2 for the grueling 500-yard freestyle was the best time, and Wayne Memorial's

Rizing to occasion

Wayne's Bruce Rize (50) takes this Rick Discher pass away from a Glenn receiver on the goal line to kill a Rocket threat in the second quarter. Rize's heroics went to waste however, as Glenn struck

Gordon, who is finishing his third year at the helm of the Rocket ship.

But Carter was just as proud of his team in defeat.

"There's no doubt about it, I thought we outplayed them and thought we played well enough to win. Penalties made the difference. I don't know when a team has been nailed with six 15-yard penalties, and all in one half," said Carter, now in his 8th year as head Zebra coach.

"I questioned a couple of the calls, because I honestly wondered about them. Also, I thought we recovered a fumble on the winning touchdown drive, but the official said the whistle had blown before the fumble occurred. I didn't see it that way, but we accept it. One thing I do commend the officials on, they were willing to listen to the coaches and I respect an official for that. Some won't even talk to you," Carter said.

"But don't get me wrong, Glenn made the plays when they had to and especially executed well on the game-winning drive in the fading seconds. Our team took the defeat particularly hard, especially the seniors. I don't think there was a dry eye in the locker room," Carter explained. "You don't play as well as they did and as hard as they did and battle right down to the end like they did without putting your whole body and soul into the game. To lead the entire game and then to lose on the last play of the game — well, that's a tough way to be defeated.

"These are a class group of athletes, and I know that sounds like a cliché — but it's true. We build a true 'family' spirit on our team each year and everyone gives up personal glory for the team."

Carter also praised his coaching staff as being "super guys" who do a great job. "We are especially fortunate to have quality men like Jim Paling, Mike Henry and Don Chastain, plus all the other volunteers that make our program such a great one here at Wayne Memorial," he said.

Inkster rips Saginaw, 28-6

Vikings end season in high-fashion

Inkster closed the 1979 football campaign with one of its over-all performances of the season.

Coach Arnice James and his Vikings routed Saginaw Buena Vista 28-0 to boost their record to 4-5, a vast improvement over a year ago when they failed to find the winning column.

"Our boys played an inspired ball game," Coach James said. "Defensively, we received an excellent effort from Stacey Bostic who recovered three fumbles and sacked their quarterback four times for huge losses."

Inkster's senior quarterback Kim Hammons also had a sterling game. He hit on nine of 18 passes for 122 yards and three touchdowns.

Hammons got the Vikings on the scoreboard late in the first quarter when he culminated a 40-yard drive with a scoring toss to with a two-yard sneak.

Hammons then hooked up with Eric Crouch for the two-point conversion.

Hammons' 20-yard pass to Thad Forman accounted for Inkster's second TD, giving the hosts a 14-0 halftime lead.

While the defense was doing its job thanks to Forman, Earl Taylor, Crouch, Eric Wyatt and Bostic, the offense again put pressure on Saginaw. Hammons' and Crouch struck again in third quarter as they connected on a 32-yard touchdown pass.

Early in the fourth quarter the Vikings scored what proved to be their final touchdown of the game and the 1979 season when Hammons singled out Ervin Mitchell for a 28-yard scoring pass. Robert Claypoole's dash off tackle took care of the two-point conversion.

Eric Stevens led all Inkster rushers, chalking up 70 yards in 12 carries.

Coach James was pleased with his team and players.

"We didn't have many players out for the team this year," James said, "but the boys who came stayed out 100 percent. And I'm proud of them. Most of the players who came out were seniors, therefore, I felt we would have a decent season."

"But key injuries to players like Phil Gray, Ron Jones, Chris Stark proved costly," Coach James added. "All-in-all, I'm satisfied."

Tailgaters

Zeroing in on Wayne quarterback Rick Covault (dark jersey) are two John Glenn defenders Bill Dye (83) and Joe Bielecki (64) who bring down the junior QB. Wayne saw its hopes for a victory end when the Westlanders put together a long fourth quarter drive which culminated in Rick Discher's four-yard decisive touchdown Friday night. More than 5,000 fans saw the ninth meeting of the two high school teams that are housed in the Wayne-Westland School District.

'We had opportunities'... Vigna

Franklin upset by Bentley

Livonia Bentley is "always up" for cross-town rival, Franklin.

And Franklin Coach Armand Vigna is trying to find a logical explanation why his Patriots have problems rising to the challenge.

"We blew it," said Coach Vigna Saturday after his team bowed 18-6 to Bentley. "We had good scoring opportunities and didn't cash in on them. Sure, I'm disappointed. Who wouldn't be?"

But if the Patriots refused to capitalize on their good fortunes — Bentley didn't. They recovered four of five Franklin fumbles which either erased scoring threats or set up their touchdowns.

Bentley got on the scoreboard in the first quarter thanks to Mark Borwowski's 37-yard run. That TD came after the Patriots' second fumble of the game. Franklin bobbled the ball and the Bulldogs recovered in the first series — no damage done. But Franklin's second miscue was costly.

Bentley widened the margin to 12-0 in the third quarter when Rick Ebach picked off a Patriot pass and ran it back 17 yards into the Franklin end zone. They got an insurance tally in the fourth quarter with 5:24 left in the game on Borowski's 84-yard jaunt around end.

Sandwiched between Bentley's second and third score, Franklin

Woodhaven thrashes Huron

It was the worst possible way to finish the football season.

Nothing seemed to go right for New Boston Huron and Coach Tom LaBeau whose Chiefs were subdued, humbled and routed, 28-0 by Woodhaven in the final game of the 1979 campaign for both teams.

"We had a complete letdown," LaBeau said after his team's fifth loss against four victories. "But we were outplayed by a better football team."

And the loss came on the Huron home field before a crowd of disenchanted fans who saw their team held to three first downs and a mere 54 yards rushing.

Scoreless the first 12 minutes of the game, Woodhaven erupted for two touchdowns in the second quarter then went on to score single TDs in each of the last two periods.

"The letdown, I feel, is a culmination of things," LaBeau offered later. "These kids are paying with a lot of pressure on them. We had a millage levy turned down and the board says they will be cutting back — things are going from bad to worst."

"So, it's easy to see why there would be a letdown," LaBeau added.

Glenn's last play dooms Wayne for 6th time

jured early in the second period, gained 18 yards in three carries and didn't tote the ball after the third play of the second quarter.

Discher rambled 28 yards in four attempts, junior tailback Greg O'Neil gained 16 yards in four tries and slotback Anthony Cabrera made some excellent moves in covering 34 yards in just four carries. Cabrera was especially good in the winning march, picking up 29 yards in three carries, one a 13-yard gain on a wide left end reverse to Wayne's 18-yard line with only 40 seconds left in the game.

Linebacker Bruce Rize of Wayne was especially outstanding, making many tackles and intercepting a pass on the goal line to end one Glenn drive on Wayne's five-yard-line. Other outstanding players, Carter praised, were Bill Wilson, defensive end; Gary DuPlessis, middle guard; Emery Biggerstaff, defensive tackle and Rob Spada, linebacker.

Coach Gordon said he wanted to give the entire Glenn team credit for a great game. However, Discher was particularly outstanding as the junior only inherited the quarterback spot after the third or fourth game of the season. Complementing him was split end Jeff Luke, a 5-foot-7, 135 pound "mighty-mite", who caught four passes for 60 yards.

Luke, little used as a receiver before Friday night, grabbed three of his receptions on the heart-stopping, winning drive of the game. The junior came into his own, grabbing three first-down aeriels in the march, a 15-yarder at the 50-yard-line to get the drive rolling, a 16-yarder to the Wayne 39-yard-line and the most crucial of all, an 11-yard completion that carried to the four-yard-line.

Other impressive Rocket performers included: punter Charlie Baronscheer, who kept Wayne backed up in its own end of the field all night; linebacker Frank Iannello, a junior who is fast maturing into an outstanding player; End Bill Dye, who went both ways; and the versatile two-way back, Tony Cabrera, perhaps the most underrated player on the Glenn squad.

Wayne had six possessions during the game and so did Glenn. Wayne's six series went like this: 1) Recovered opening kickoff fumble and marched 33 yards in six plays for TD. 2) Moved from own 24 to 32-yard line, punted. 3) intercepted pass on Wayne one-yard-line, moved to Glenn 10-yard-line, where Pete Tavana's 29-yard field goal attempt was wide.

In the second half, Wayne's fourth series moved from its own 29-yard-line to Glenn's 3-yard-line, but the third 15-yard penalty of the march ended the drive on Glenn's 17-yard-line. 5) Moved from own 24-yard-line to Glenn 42, lost ball on fumble. 6) The last Wayne series began on own 43-yard-line, moved to Glenn 37, stopped with 4th and four to go.

Glenn's six possessions went like this: Notcounting fumbled opening kickoff, 1) moved from own 33 to 37-yard-line, punted to Wayne 24. 2) Moved from Glenn 35 to Wayne 10, where pass was intercepted on goal line. 3) Moved from Glenn 20 to Glenn 45, half ended.

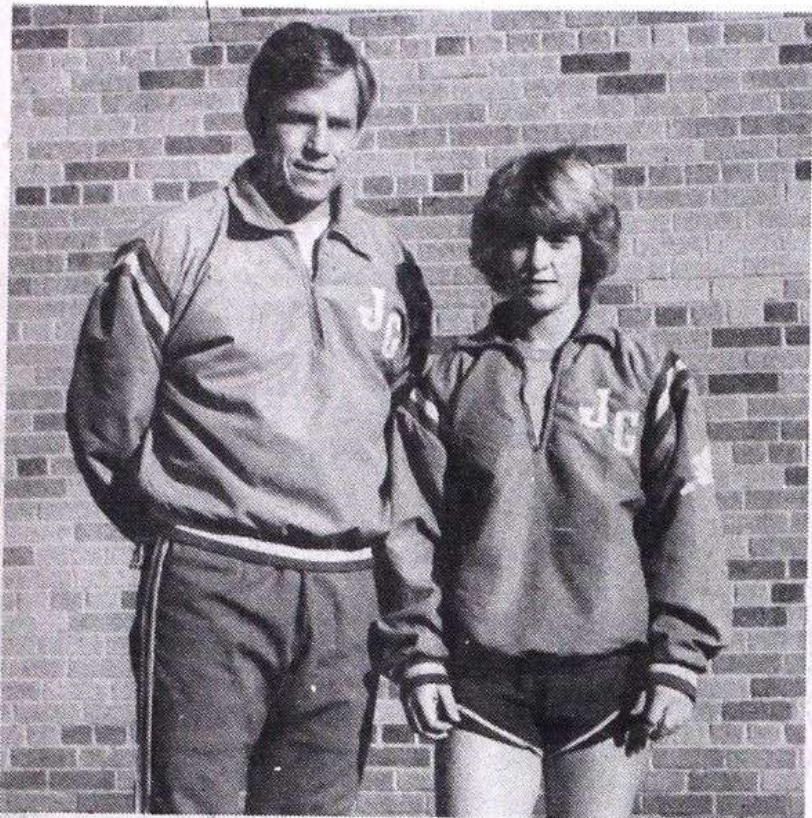

In the second half, the fourth Glenn series moved from Glenn 24 to Wayne 6-yard-line, stalled, John Johnston kicked 25-yard field goal. 5) Moved from Glenn 42 to Wayne 43-yard-line, lost ball on downs. 6) Final possession, moved from Glenn 37-yard-line, 63 yards in 16 plays for winning touchdown.

The Rockets overcame two 15-yard penalties in the drive plus a five-yard loss on a quarterback sack of Discher by Wayne's Bill Wilson. They also had fourth down and two on Wayne's 18-yard-line with just 34 seconds left in the game. They made the first down on Thornton's four-yard run and ended the successful drive with Discher's four-yard touchdown romp.

Carter praised several players on Wayne's offensive team, including QB Rick Covault, running backs Rogers, Shumpert and Taube, end Mike Blair and tackle Mike Lancaster.

It was easily as exciting as any of the 10 games played in this series which saw Wayne win the first four and Glenn the last six.

Looking good

Standing alongside her coach, senior Pam Prater became the first Westland John Glenn girl to place among the top 20 in the Class A state cross country finals. Miss Prater finished 19th over the weekend at Howell to earn all-state consideration. She ran 12th at the regionals staged in New Boston Huron. The man who helped her reach that plateau is Coach Jerry Szukaitis.

Jack's first hockey victory is a thriller

Jack's Sports Center made its first victory in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League a thriller.

Coming from behind, Jack's edged Extra Point Bar 5-4 thanks to the heroics of one Ron Wojewski. Trailing 4-2 with six minutes left in the game, Wojewski took charge and scored and closed the gap, 4-3. Then, with 37 seconds left, Wojewski struck again, and his goal tied the duel up at 4-4.

Wojewski wasn't done with Extra Point. He continued his scoring rampage and fired in the decisive goal with only one second to spare. "It was really something," said Ron Hayes, publicity director for the league. "I have never seen anything like it in our league or anywhere. Wojewski really came alive out there."

Ron Gabbert added a pair of goals for the winners while scoring for Extra Point were Bill Creekmore, Don Morris, Jack Bockstanz and Mel Siekoff.

Meanwhile, Futurama Engineering remained undefeated as it knocked off Tastee Freez by a score of 4-1. A three-goal first period proved to be the difference in the contest.

Dave Jones led the winners with a pair of solos and Rick Mullen, Dave Frankling, and John Kunz each added one a piece.

Tim Vanderburgh, the league's top goaltender, was robbed of a shutout when Dave Milan scored for the losers. Vanderburgh has given up a mere four goals in four games.

Led by Jerry Grube's hat trick, the Jock Shop stayed unbeaten thanks to a 4-3 victory over Brock's Homes. Grube's third goal of the night came with 13 minutes left and proved to be the difference in the hotly-contested battle.

John Clearwood added the other goal for the winners.

Dave Zajac paced the losers with a couple of tallies while Don Middaugh scored the other goal.

In other action, Johnson Carbonic ran up the biggest score of the current campaign as it blasted Jake's Lounge 9-2. Turning on the light five times in the first period, Johnson's had sealed the victory early.

Ron Johnson's three goals fired up the winners and teammates Bob Murray scored twice. Jerry Robertson, Ken Neal, Guy Noise and Glenn Stevenson each chipped in one goal apiece for the winners. Mike Villenmure and Larry Kaifesh tallied for the losers.

Extra Point will get a shot at Futurama's four-game winning streak Sunday when the skaters take the ice at 9 a.m. at the Wayne Arena. Johnson's clashes with the Jock Shop at 10:30, in a game also scheduled for Wayne.

Over at Westland Rink, Jake's Lounge has a 6:30 p.m. meeting with Brock's Homes and at 8 p.m., Tastee Freez and Jack's Sports Center will mix 'em up.

Westland auto racer rebuilding his vehicle

While the National Championships were underway this past weekend in Atlanta, Georgia, Westland road racing driver, Robin Ungar was at home examining the remains of his F production class, Triumph Spitfire.

Two weeks ago at Indianapolis Raceway Park, Ungar planted the nose of his car into the side of a spinning Alfa Romeo while traveling at more than 100 miles per hour.

Thanks to rigid safety equipment standards established by SCCA (Sports Car Club of America), injury to the drivers were light. But Robin's car was a near total loss.

In order to successfully compete in national events, careful planning of engine rebuilds at appropriate time periods is required. Robin was first knocked off stride last May at Nelson Ledges, Ohio, when his engine let go in front of the start-finish line. There was a spectacular explosion which was immediately extinguished by the safety workers.

By September, Ungar had recovered and won national points at Elhart Lake, Wisconsin; Mid Ohio; and Indianapolis. He then took a break from national competition to compete in, and win, the Regional event at Waterford Hills, Michigan, the latter part of September.

Although the past season has been a mixture of success and disappointment, Robin is determined to continue his pursuit for national recognition. With his uncompromising attention to detail and relentless desire to win, Robin is resolved to have a new car ready for the first event of the 1980 season, to be held at the Charlotte Motor Speedway in March.

Sparks start with 'bang'

Defending National Wheelchair Basketball Association Champions, the "Westland Sparks" began their 1979-1980 season with a "bang" against Washington D.C.'s "Capital Smokers."

The local squad raced to a 55-27 halftime lead and coasted to the victory.

The Westlanders had five players who scored in double figures. Leon Sturtz and Ted Chatman had 20 points each, followed by Denver Brannum 18, Gary Odorowski 16 and Joe Sutika 11. Capital received 18, from Tom Hewitt.

The Sparks had a rougher time in the rematch. After struggling to a 36-23 half-time lead the Westland squad exploded in the second half for an 86-39 victory.

In this "rough and tumble" game Leon Sturtz again led the locals with 18 points. Also adding to the balanced attack were Maurice Phillips with 15 points, Denver Brannum 12, Joe Sutika 11 and Ted Chatman with 10. For Capital, Hewitt again sank 16 points.

The Sparks after hosting the Lake Erie Conference All-Stars on October 20, will be idle until November 3 and 4 when they host the "always tough" Indianapolis Mustangs who are paced by double amputee Tom Osborne who scored 32 points against the Westlanders last year.

On November 10 and 11 the "Pittsburgh Steelwheelers" will invade the Bailey Recreation Center for an important conference battle.

All home games are played at Westland's Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center located at 36651 Ford Road between Wayne and Newburgh Roads. Tickets prices are $1.25 per adults, .75 per child-senior citizens and persons in wheelchairs are admitted free of charge. Season tickets are also available for $15 a ticket. All Saturday games (except for tournaments) will begin at 8:00 p.m., with Sunday afternoon contests "tipping off" at 1:00 p.m. For further group rate, ticket and schedule information call 722-7620.

Winning smile

Placing in 11 of 12 events, Michael (left) and John Jensen returned from the Windsor Aquatic Club's International Swim Meet with a score of plaques and honors, including the top accolade — high point plaque. The two Westlanders swim for the Mustangs out of Dearborn.

Westlanders John and Michael Jensen got a taste of international swimming competition recently and liked it.

In fact, the two brothers strolled away from the Ninth Annual Windsor Aquatic Club Swimming Invitational with a heap of honors, including the High Point Plaque for 10 and under boys.

The Jensens pulled off their triumph by placing in 11 of 12 events.

The Windsor meet brought together more than 200 swimmers from 23 swim clubs from Sarnia, Chatham, London, Windsor, Woodstock, Canada, plus swimmers from Michigan, Ohio and New York.

John placed in all the events he competed in while putting claim to the 10-and-under division boys' High Point Award. He was first in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:23.1), 100-yard butterfly (1:12.5), 100-yard freestyle (1:04.3), 200-yard individual medley (2:35.7) while placing second in the 50-yard freestyle (29.7), and 100-yard backstroke (1:13.3).

Michael, 12, was fourth in the 200-yard freestyle (2:13.8), 100-yard backstroke (1:13.2), fifth in the 100-yard freestyle (1:02.8), and sixth in the 100-yard butterfly (1:12.6). He also placed sixth in the 200-yard individual medley (2:36.4).

CPSC won't regulate off-roaders

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has denied a petition to regulate off-road trail bikes, mini-cycles and mini-bikes sold in the United States.

The petition had been submitted by two physicians from Seattle, Wash.

The petitioners had urged that federal limitations be set on the maximum speeds these bikes could attain, as well as cautionary labels for parents and children. They also had requested design changes so that each vehicle would accommodate only one rider at least the size of an average 14-year-old.

Although it denied the petition, the commission discussed how to require disclosure of the accurate speed capabilities of these off-road vehicles, and will work with industry on such disclosure. Speed information may help consumers, particularly parents, weigh the risks of high-speed bikes before purchasing them for children.

In addition, the commission will encourage industry to develop voluntary measures to reduce injuries from motor bike parts which can burn riders, including exhaust pipes.

Since 1973, motor bike injuries requiring emergency room treatment have decreased sharply.

from approximately 31,000 in 1973 to approximately 19,100 in 1978. This reduction first became evident in 1975. Approximately 3.6 million off-road bikes now are in use in the U.S.

Additionally, mini-bike sales have decreased from a peak of approximately 140,000 units in 1973 to approximately 50,000 in 1977, according to an industry group. Comparable sales figures are not available for trail bikes and mini-cycles.

Commissioner Stuart M. Statler volunteered to work with industry to explore the possibility of compiling and disclosing the speed information and to promote voluntary safety standards for these vehicles.

Young people find the motor bikes particularly appealing and are among the most frequently injured. CPSC staff has reported. For example, 9-year-olds as well as 12 to 14-year-olds most often were injured in mini-bike accidents.

CPSC staff reported that the most common hazard with all three types of bikes involved falling off, which resulted in more than 5,000 injuries in 1978. Almost 1,300 injuries were caused by body contact with hot or moving parts, and more than 1,000 injuries resulted from collisions.

Kok urges fuel assist for seniors

State Office of Services to the Aging director Peter Kok today has urged gas companies, fuel and wood suppliers to follow the lead of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

The company initiated a program earlier last week that guarantees that no senior citizen will have his gas service shut off this winter because of failure to pay the bill.

"Unless energy suppliers throughout the State adopted a similar program to assure that older people with bill-paying problems aren't faced with shut-offs, thousands of senior citizens will have to choose between food and fuel," Kok said.

Kok explained that the Michigan Consolidated Gas program is a result of the cooperative efforts of the Office of Services to the Aging, the state's 13 area agencies on Aging and Community Action agencies. The program includes an extensive outreach program, especially the use of the Senior Energy Advisor Program.

The Senior Energy Advisor Program places a VISTA volunteer in each Area Agency to establish an energy information service. Part of the service will be to provide senior citizens with advice and information about obtaining financial assistance to pay their fuel bills. Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.'s program will be part of this effort.

"The Office of Services to the Aging will help any fuel supplier to set up such a program. We believe it is only through the combined efforts of government and private industry that all older people who experience problems in paying their fuel bills can be assured of heat this winter."

Kok stressed that quick action is needed because thousands of senior citizens on fixed incomes already know that they won't be able to pay their high fuel bill this winter.

Booklet lists VA benefits

Benefits for veterans and their families and how to obtain them are described in a booklet "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents," according to the Veterans Administration.

VA officials said while there are many other publications describing individual agency programs this is the one that gives an overall view of what is offered and is the place to start for people who have never used VA services.

Secure education and training, medical care, compensation, pension, GI loans and many other benefits.

The booklet also explains who is qualified for these benefits, and lists all VA addresses and phone numbers including the free long distance numbers to VA regional offices.

Cost of the booklet is $1.50. Checks should be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

SEMTA ups west area bus routes

Lift-equipped buses, a new Park and Ride route and major service increases head the changes planned for western Wayne County bus routes, starting Monday.

The improved service and increased trips are part of the response of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) to an approximate 25 percent ridership increase in the past year — an increase that has caused crowding in peak-hour buses.

Wayne, Westland and Dearborn area residents will see service improvements on the 165 Dearborn-Taylor-Wyandotte, the 185 Westland-Dearborn-Ecorse, the 200 Michigan Avenue, the 240-250-260 Westland, the 285-286 Middlebelt-Inkster, and the 835 Ford Road Park and Ride. Also, the 809 Wayne-Dearborn-Detroit Park and Ride will change its name to the 809 Michigan Avenue Park and Ride. All buses on this route will be lift-equipped.

Discount exact-fare tickets and monthly discount SEMTACARDS can be used on all SEMTA transit. Purchases over $10 may be billed to Visa or MasterCard by calling 256-8700.

...increased trips are part of the response... to an approximate 25 percent ridership increase...

New schedules and additional information are available by calling SEMTA at 962-5515 or (toll-free) 1-800-462-5161.

On the new weekday 815 Western Wayne Park and Ride, morning inbound buses will begin their run at Madonna College, located at Schoolcraft (I-96) and Levan. Two other free Park and Ride lots for the 815 Plymouth are the Sheldon Center at Plymouth and Farmington roads and Wondersland Shopping Center at Plymouth and Middlebelt roads. The bus will provide local service on Beech-Daily between Plymouth Road and Schoolcraft.

Downtown Detroit passenger-pickup points include the Renaissance Center, Jefferson and Randolph, Jefferson and Griswold, Griswold and Larned, Fort and Shelby, Washington Boulevard south of Lafayette, and Michigan Avenue at Cass, Third and Sixth streets.

SEMTA designed the 815 Plymouth Park and Ride after surveys indicated that riders on the 810 Plymouth-Livonia Park and Ride and the 835 Ford Road Park and Ride were driving significant distances to reach those routes.

Service charges for the other routes include:

- 165 Dearborn-Taylor-Wyandotte: This Saturday schedule will be revised so that buses make better connections with 110 Jefferson buses at Eureka and Biddle.

- 185 Westland-Dearborn-Ecorse: All buses will be lift-equipped. On weekdays, in response to riders' requests, one morning inbound and one afternoon outbound trip will be extended into Great Lakes Steel in Ecorse. Saturday service will start earlier, at 8 a.m., and end later, at 7:30 p.m. Buses will run every 60 minutes instead of every 90 minutes.

- 200 Michigan Avenue: One morning inbound trip and one afternoon outbound trip will be added. On Saturdays and Sundays, all trips will be extended to the Renaissance Center from Michigan and Shelby. Saturday service will continue at 15-minute intervals, with service to Wayne every 30 minutes and to Greenfield Village every 60 minutes. Service to Wayne on Sundays will be at 30-minute intervals, via Greenfield Village and via Fairlane at 60-minute intervals respectively.

- 240-250-260 Westland: Additional morning and evening peak-hour trips have been added. On Saturdays, all Route 250 trips will be extended to the Renaissance Center; and the bus will run at 60-minute intervals.

- 285 Middlebelt-Inkster: In response to passengers' requests, morning rush hour service will be instituted. The first northbound bus will leave Wayne County General Hospital at 6:49 a.m., arriving at Livonia Mall at 7:34 a.m. and Seven Mile and Grand River at 7:42 a.m. The first southbound bus will depart Seven Mile and Grand River at 7:52 a.m. and will arrive at Wayne County General Hospital at 8:45 a.m.

- 835 Ford Road Park and Ride: Inbound morning trips will increase from three to four, as will outbound evening trips in response to dramatic ridership increases.

Romulus man completes training

A Romulus man has completed a 4-day jobber education program at PPG Industries' Ditzler training center in Delaware for application of automotive refinishes.

He is Robert J. Vargo, manager for Painters Supply & Equipment, located on Fort Street in Lincoln Park.

Vargo was one of 12 persons who participated in a program, designed to provide jobbers and jobber salesmen with information and advanced techniques regarding recent developments in automotive paint products.

The PPG program started in 1947. Originally, it provided only a review of products. In 1959, however, classroom instruction was combined with spraybooth activities.

Classroom work covers all phases of auto refinishing, ranging from cleaning materials, primers, reducers and thinners to top coats and sealing components. The shop instruction gives jobbers and jobber salesmen first hand experience in proper handling of products for optimum results as well as defects that occur when the products are misused.

MRS. CHRISTOPHER STINEHOUR

Stinehour, Sageman exchange vows in outdoor setting

The 30th anniversary of the bride's parents wedding was chosen as the date for the ceremony which joined Kathy J. Sageman and Christopher F. Stinehour, both of Belleville, in holy matrimony.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sageman of Bad Axe, the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

The October 22 nuptial rite, an outdoor ceremony, took place at the home of Mrs. Daniel T. Quirk in Aux Barques, Mich. The Rev. Robert Garrett of Port Austin officiated at the double ring rite.

Holding a cascade of ivory Japhet orchids accented with spider plant blossoms, the bride appeared in a floor-length blouson-style gown of imported ivory silk chiffon over taffeta featuring elbow-length full capelet sleeves and a cutaway, layered hemline.

Her floor-length veil of English silk tulle sprinkled with miniature curled feathers, was held in place by a cap comprised of ivory-tinted quilled ostrich feathers.

As her sister's matron of honor, Shelley Robson of Belleville donned a peacock blue gown designed with a draped neckline, wide tapering side tie belt and wrist-length sleeves. A peacock feather headpiece and cascade bouquet of stephanotis trimmed with broad green leaves and ivy completed her ensemble.

The two bridesmaids, in identical outfits, were Pamela Smith of Belleville and Catherine Crosby of Atlantic Beach, Fla.

The bridegroom, the son of Howard Stinehour of Belleville and the late Jean Stinehour, asked his close friend, Mark Robson of Belleville, to be best man. Groomsmen were Ryan Smith and Karle Stinehour, brother of the bridegroom, both of Belleville.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of navy blue sheer organza with a rust-tinted cymbidium orchid at the shoulder as she greeted guests at the reception and dinner which followed at Pte. Aux Barques.

The new Mrs. Stinehour received a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University and is employed as an account executive for the American Broadcasting Corporation in Detroit.

The bridegroom holds a bachelor of science degree from Michigan Technological University at Houghton and is an engineer for General Motors Corporation in Detroit.

Following a wedding trip through Michigan's Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds took up residence at 13176 Lake Pointe Blvd., Belleville.

Wedding planned

Former Romulus residents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Henry O'Brien of Pace, Fla. are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Lynn O'Brien, to Bert Conoly Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jack Conoly Sr. of Tifton, Ga. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of former Romulus residents, Mr. and Mrs. Glennis R. Hawley Sr. of Flat Top, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jenkins of West Detroit. She is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Hallie Caldwell of Belleville. A 1979 graduate of Tift County High in Tifton, Ga., Miss O'Brien attended Romulus Schools midway through her junior year. She is currently an on-campus student at Abraham Baldwin Agriculture College in Tifton. The prospective bridegroom, a 1979 alumnus of Tiftarea Academy, attends the University of Georgia in Athens. The First Baptist Church of Tifton has been reserved for the young couple's Dec. 28 wedding.

Curt Cilia, Laurie Hill, wed in early October ceremony

A week-long honeymoon at the Doral Hotel in Miami, Fla. followed the October 5 ceremony which joined Laurie Ann Hill and Curtis Edward Cilia in holy matrimony.

Some 275 relatives and friends were assembled for the six o'clock rite conducted by The Rev. Raymond Skoney at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. For the occasion the altar was appointed with bouquets of peach and brown carnations and the pews marked with matching blooms.

Judy Cullin of Taylor accompanied herself at the organ as she sang "Prayer of St. Francis" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face."

Parents of the young couple, who are now residing in Westland, are Arthur and Joy Hill of 12466 Van Allen, Belleville, and Paul and Marie Cilia of 47940 Hull Rd., Belleville.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, Laurie was gowned in candlelight satin organza, the pearled Alencon applique bodice featuring a Queen Ann neckline and matching fitted sleeves. Extending to cathedral length, her circular train was embellished with a wide hem of Alencon lace, the pearled motif also being repeated on the front of the full skirt.

Her mantilla veil of silk illusion, held by a little pearled lace cap, drifted to cathedral length over the skirt. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade arrangement of white roses, mums and baby's breath.

Diane Bodenmiller came from San Diego, Calif. to be honor attendant at her sister's wedding. The quintet of bridesmaids included Jean Hill of Midland, sister-in-law of the bride; Marianne Szlinis and Mary Greca, of Belleville, and Laura La Blanc and Jackie L'Amoreaux, both of Ypsilanti.

They donned formal-length gowns of peach qiana and little veiled peach hats and held bouquets of peach roses and baby's breath accented with brown eucalyptus leaves.

The bridegroom's brother, Greg Cilia, flew in from Aiea, Hawaii to be best man at the wedding. The corps of groomsmen included Greg Hill of Midland and Gary Bodenmiller of San Diego, Calif., brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the bride; Jack Smith of Monroe; Nick Cirocco of Livonia, and Mark Gardner of South Lyon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hill chose to wear a rust qiana gown to which she pinned her corsage of peach roses and baby's breath. The bridegroom's mother wore a peach qiana ensemble with an identical corsage on the bodice.

Flowers were also presented to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. William E. Hennells, who with her husband, was among those congratulating the young couple as was the bridegroom's grandfather, Paul Cilia Sr., who traveled from Malta especially for the occasion.

Some 375 guests attended the dinner-dance reception which followed at Roma's of Ann Arbor.

Both Laurie and Curt graduated from Belleville High School, she in 1978 and he in 1971. She currently is attending Washtenaw Community College while employed in the law office of Meyers, Henning, Barrese and Polczyk in Livonia. Curt spent a year at the University of Michigan and is now working for the Ford Motor Company in Monroe.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the Paul Cilia's, was held at Leutheuser's in Saline.

Fall smorgasbord held by Home Arts

Members of the Home Arts Club of Belleville gathered Oct. 8 for their traditional fall smorgasbord held in the home economics room at North Junior High School. Twenty-five members and six guests shared the meal which included an array of international dishes ranging from red, white and blue salad to Hungarian chicken paprikas to Danish apple bars. Many brought items from foreign countries to display as well.

Hostesses for the evening, Charlotte Budd, Lucille Bravatto and Charlotte Price, used corn husk dolls, gourds and nut cups for their autumnal decorating scheme.

In the absence of president Marilyn Prill, Charlotte Budd, program chairman, conducted the business meeting which followed. Roll call included which dish each member had contributed and the introduction of guests: Dorothy Curtis, Nancy Shephard, Elsie Robson, Helen Janchowski, Phyllis Young and Wilma Tator.

Program booklets for the year were distributed and Mrs. Budd reminded the group that the November meeting would be a Crafts for Christmas workshop.

She then introduced the guest speaker, Nancy Shephard, who told of her recent trip to Poland as part of the Kalisz Polish Song and Dance Ensemble. She was among the 46 who toured the country as part of a cultural study program. Included in the sightseeing itinerary were churches, castles, a monastery, salt mine, a visit to Auschwitz, (the German concentration camp), a raft ride down a river, as well as lots of shopping and walking. The group performed Polish dances for the people and many of the troupe looked up relatives in the area during their 3½ weeks abroad.

Country Bazaar planned by ECW

A Country Christmas Bazaar is in the offing for members of the community according to co-chairmen Marj Forde and Geraldine Stosick, members of the Episcopal Church Women (ECW) of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Set for Nov. 14, hours for the activities, which will include lunch and dinner, are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Vegetable or potato soup and sloppy joes will be featured for the mid-day repast while lasagna, salad, dessert and coffee will be on the evening menu.

Bazaar booths will include homemade candy, home-canned goods including jams and jellies, houseplants, Christmas ornaments and decorations, and hand-sewn items such as aprons, purses, toys and pillows.

A highlight of the festivities will be the drawing for winners of the raffle. Some lucky person will be the owner of a completely refinished and upholstered antique rocker, a handmade quilt, baby afghan, nativity set and wooly sheep and lamb set.

Atwood-Freysinger wedding held at Ann Arbor church

Toronto for four days was on the honeymoon itinerary for the newly wed Robert Atwoods, who, since their return, have made their home at 8389 Lakeview Ct., Ypsilanti.

Beverly Freysinger became Mrs. Atwood during a six o'clock ceremony October 20 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor. The Rev. George Alexander Miller, assisted by the bride's brother, Robert Freysinger, presided at the double ring rite. Richard Freysinger served as acolyte at his sister's wedding and their brother-in-law, Harry David, performed as soloist.

The autumn ceremony joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Freysinger of 45275 Sunrise Lane, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Atwood of 1798 Green Hills Dr., Ann Arbor.

Beverly chose for her wedding day a white chiffon creation designed with a blouson waist over a V-necked bodice frosted with delicate val lace. Her split dolman sleeves also featured val lace with the hemline carrying out the same motif.

She wore a val lace veil made by her mother and carried a presentation bouquet of white long-stemmed roses with pink edges and baby's breath framed by shafts of wheat.

Making up the bridal coterie were Suzanne Hansen of Pontiac, the bride's former roommate, as maid of honor; Mrs. Harry (Gail) Davis of Trenton, the bride's sister; Mrs. Ron (Nancy) Peterson of Ypsilanti and Cheryl Cilia of Belleville.

The quartet appeared in wine-colored blouson gowns accessorized by bouquets of cymbidium orchids, mums and carnations accented by shafts of wheat.

Tacketts honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Ont.

The Church of God in Belleville was the setting Sept. 8 for the double ring ceremony at which Sherry Skidgell became Mrs. Harold Tackett.

The Rev. Paul Leslie presided at the six o'clock rite before some 150 relatives and friends and the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Skidgell of 43850 Harris Rd., Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Sol Tackett Jr. of Vanceburg, Ky. and Mrs. Marie Navarre of 19000

Martinsville Rd., Belleville.

Approaching the altar, which was adorned with purple and white carnations, daisies, spider mums and baby's breath, the bride appeared on the arm of her father. She wore for her wedding day a long white gown of silk and lace, the fitted bodice fashioned with a high lace neckline, long sleeves and pearl beading.

A crown of pearls secured her 3-tiered waist-length veil and she carried white roses, purple-tipped white carnations, purple carnations and baby's breath.

Heading the bridal attendants was Sheila Tackett of Belleville, the bridegroom's sister. Also preceding the bride to the sanctuary were Gail Skidgell, Diane Skidgell, Linda Laurel, Brenda Skidgell and Pamela Skidgell, all members of the family from Belleville.

All six wore floor-length mauve gowns and matching hats and held bouquets of purple and white carnations and baby's breath.

Five-year-old Jennifer Mason donned a little purple frock and carried a flower-filled basket for her role as flowergirl. Ringbearer was 4-year-old Wendell Tackett Jr.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Wendell Tackett of Belleville, to serve as best man. Ushers were Larry Tackett of Belleville; Len Manning of Kentucky; Jim Laurel, Rick Tackett and Mike Tackett, all of Belleville.

The PNA Hall was reserved for the reception which followed. Mrs. Skidgell greeted the 240 guests in a blue floor-length gown to which she added her corsage of purple-tipped carnations. Identical flowers were presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a lilac dress for the occasion.

UHT Memorial Funeral Home

HAROLD REDISKE JR.

"Can a Funeral Director Conduct Funerals of Any Faith?"

The answer is "Yes" for most experienced funeral directors. We have acquainted ourselves with most of the local religious customs and can advise you about them.

From the time we and the clergyman are called, we are in close touch with each other so as to pay strict heed to the family's wishes for any and all religious services. It is important for you to contact your own pastor, priest or rabbi EARLY so he can help you — and us. If you don't happen to be active in any church, we can suggest an appropriate clergy person.

During the time of the funeral planning and service, your religious faith can be a mighty strong support and source of comfort to you. To include meaningful portions of your faith in the funeral service can render additional comfort to those attending the funeral.

If you have any questions about the funeral service and any religious practices, feel free to contact us by phone or stop in for consultation.

MR. AND MRS. CHESTER BELL JR.

Hawaiian Islands chosen by Bells for honeymoon

Arrangements of red roses and white carnations graced the altar of the First United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor when Janet L. Griffin of Ann Arbor and Chester Bell Jr. of Ypsilanti, formerly of Belleville, exchanged nuptial vows on Oct. 12.

The 6:30 p.m. rite was conducted by The Rev. Fred Maitland and Dr. David W. Freedmen before 100 close friends and relatives.

Organist Mary Stubbins accompanied Carole Lewis who was soloist for the occasion.

A close friend, Dan Beauchamp, escorted the bride down the aisle. She chose for her wedding day an ivory chiffon and re-embroidered Alencon lace gown. Fashioned with a Queen Ann neckline and bishop sleeves the bodice was attached to an A-line skirt, which drifted into a full cathedral train appliqued with Alencon lace.

Her picture hat of chiffon and lace secured a waltz-length veil of silk illusion while a free-form bouquet of cascading red roses, white gardenias, baby's breath and English ivy completed her bridal ensemble.

Sandra Roos of Ypsilanti served as maid of honor while Mrs. Karen Hinkley of Manchester, Mrs. Jillaine Beauchamp of Ann Arbor and Nancy Borto of Warren, all former college roommates of the bride, made up the bridal coterie.

Wearing identical outfits, they appeared in mid-calf frocks of sheer burgundy-red crepe imprinted with an Oriental gold and green motif woven into the bodice and hems of the dresses. They wore silk rose and white straw hairpieces and carried paper fans with handmade silk red and gold flowers and baby's breath attached.

The bridegroom, the son of Chester and Mable Bell of Ypsilanti, formerly of Belleville, asked Kerie Gilliam of Gladwin, formerly of Belleville, to be best man. Groomsmen were Otis Bell and Christopher Bell of Ypsilanti, brothers of the bridegroom, and Michael Reau of Toledo, Ohio.

Some 140 guests gathered at Roma's of Ann Arbor for the reception which followed. The bridegroom's mother was in a formal rose-pink chiffon gown with a corsage of red roses and baby's breath attached for the special occasion.

Following a 9-day honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands (Oahu, Maui and Kauai) the young couple took up residence at 2717 Adrienne Dr., Ann Arbor.

A graduate of Brighton High School, the new Mrs. Bell attended Eastern Michigan University where she affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority. She now is working at the University of Michigan, Program on Studies in Religion, as an administrative assistant.

Bell, an alumnus of Belleville High School, served three years with the U.S. Army and one year in the Army Air National Guard. At present he is enrolled at Washtenaw Community College and works as computer operations clerk at Electronic Data Systems of Ann Arbor.

The rehearsal dinner at Great Lakes Steak House in Ann Arbor was hosted by the bride and groom.

Glenn's final obstacle is big one

If Westland John Glenn wants "the upper hand" in the Northwest Suburban Conference girls' swimming race, it'll have to beat an always-tough North Farmington this week.

North has won the league championship five out of the last seven years, but relinquished the crown to newcomer Redford Union a year ago.

Glenn has beaten R.U. this year and only North stands in Coach Jim Lawrence and his team's way for a perfect dual meet record in the Northwest.

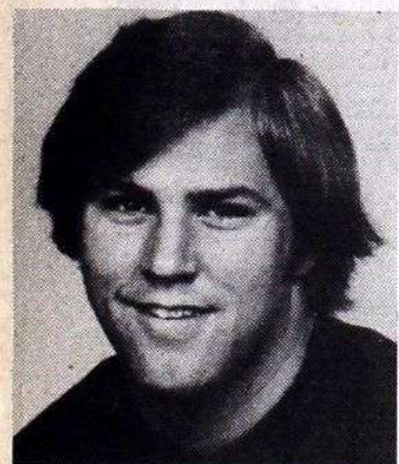

"If we beat them (North), we would be in good shape," coach Lawrence said after the Rockets overpowered Garden City East, 107-60 for their fourth consecutive league victory. "We would then go into the championships with a perfect record, and I would say we would also be considered the favorite."

"And we're hungry - we won the title two years ago, but the league was not as strong as it is now."

Glenn swept eight out of a possible 11 first places en route to a lopsided win over East. Karin Stover posted a double win as she polished off the 200-yard individual medley in 2:36.6 and won the 500-yard freestyle in an outstanding 5:58.8 effort.

Meet results: Westland John Glenn 107, Garden City East 60

200-YARD MEDLEY RELAY

Cherry Hill finishes 3-6

Clarenceville rally spoils Spartans' Parents' Day, 19-16

Cherry Hill and Clarenceville kept swinging the pendulum back-and-forth for the most of 36 minutes Saturday afternoon and when it stopped Clarenceville had a 19-16 football victory.

That triumph ruined Cherry Hill's Parents' Day plans and left Coach Jerry Pawloski's Spartans with a 3-6 won-lost record for their sweat in 1979.

"It's been a disappointing season," Pawloski admitted. "I thought we would do better, especially after our first two scrimmages of the year - I felt optimistic."

"However, I have to give the kids credit because from the first to the last ball game the team improved tremendously. The effort was all there and when you consider we lost four games by four points or less, it shows we were in most of our games."

And Saturday's last game of the season exemplified how the Spartans have refused to quit all year. Clarenceville drew first blood and got on the scoreboard in the second quarter. The visitors hung on to a 7-0 halftime lead but relinquished it early in the third quarter.

After the second half kickoff, Cherry Hill marched 80 yards and scored on a 15-yard pass from quarterback John LaScola to Mike Johnson.

Cherry Hill took the lead 8-7 when running back Randy Frederick rambled into the end zone for the two-point conversion.

But Clarenceville countered with its second touchdown drive immediately after the ensuing kick-off. The visitors engineered a 55-yard drive that lifted them to a 13-8 margin. That also didn't last.

Randy Frederick, who has made it a habit of returning kickoffs and punts for touchdowns, jolted the Clarenceville defense with a bit of heroism. He burst through the visitor's specialty team and ran 90 yards for a touchdown, returning the lead once again to the Spartans. Johnson scored the two-point conversion and now the Spartans had a 16-13 lead to protect.

The Cherry Hill euphoria didn't last long, though. Clarenceville put the decisive touchdown on the board in their next series of plays after the ensuing kickoff. They put together another one of their drives aided by two crucial Spartan penalties.

"That really cost us," said Pawloski. "It was our mistakes - two big penalties that moved them to our 20 and they went in from there and scored."

Though there was still time, Cherry Hill lost a legitimate shot to take the lead for the third time when it fumbled away the ball at its 40.

Clarenceville gave the gift back on its second play from scrimmage, but the Spartans were slapped with a couple of penalties in their final series, including an intentionally grounding infraction that took the sails out of their drive.

Zebras are faced with 2 'must' games

The next two league games will tell Coach Steve Schwartz whether his cagers at Wayne Memorial have a chance of catching Fordson and Monroe, the co-Great Lakes 8 Conference leaders.

Schwartz' girls take on Fordson Thursday in Dearborn at 8 p.m., and the following Thursday clash with Monroe which is the only team to beat the Tractors this season in the Great Lakes.

"We'll know just where we stand in our next couple of games," said Schwartz after his Zebras buried Taylor Truman 59-23 and dumped Taylor Center, 47-27. "Fordson and Monroe are tied for first place (9-1) and we're right there behind them at 8-2."

There is another team waiting in the wing for a shot at all three title hopefuls. Lincoln Park, which has a Nov. 13 date with Wayne and which has not played either co-leader in the second round, could upset everyone's plans, according to Schwartz.

In the meantime, Wayne got 16 points from Cindy Dunn in the second half to break open the Taylor Center game. Wayne led 17-8 after two periods as Peggy Stevens drilled nine of her 13 points in the first half. Miss Stevens also hauled down 10 rebounds.

Dun finished the night with 18 points, the individual scoring high. Up by 17 at halftime, Wayne had no trouble beating Taylor Truman.

Robin gets key net victory

Former Wayne Memorial tennis star Robin Walker figured prominently in Central Michigan University's women's tennis victory at the Ball State Invitational.

The tournament closed out the fall season.

Miss Walker, a sophomore, won the No. 2 doubles, teaming with another sophomore, Mary Hop. Miss Hop also won the No. 5 singles' championship.

In all, the Chippewas won three individual and two of the three doubles matches to clinch the tournament championship.

Romulus rally falls short at Riverview

Foley's Eagles go out fighting, 24-14

Romulus went out fighting ... Erupting for two touchdowns in the last quarter, Coach Don Foley's Eagles came up short at Riverview and dropped their season's football finale, 24-14.

The loss snapped a three-game Romulus winning streak, one of the longest in current history. "I wish we could play that first quarter over with them," Coach Foley commented afterwards. "We gave up 14 points — they were legitimate touchdowns — but I feel after that shaky start we played an exceptional game."

Riverview, which will depart from the Great Lakes 8 Conference and join the Huron League next year, struck for two early TDs. Craig Davis broke loose on a four-yard off tackle slant to cap a 52-yard Pirate drive in their first series. He also scored later in the quarter on a 34-yard run.

The host built up a 24-0 lead for three quarters before Romulus came alive.

Vince Carter put the Eagles on the board with a four-yard touchdown run that finished off a 53-yard drive in eight plays. Shawn Green, who accounted for 129 yards in 23 rushes, was the mainstay of that drive.

Green had the honor of scoring the Eagles' final TD of the campaign. He crossed the Riverview goal line from the two with 1½ minutes left in the game. That TD was the result of a 66-yard, 15 play drive with Green doing most of the ball carrying.

Earlier, Romulus saw a legitimate touchdown threat evaporate at the Pirate four yard line where they handed the ball over on downs after an incomplete pass into the end zone.

Romulus had 12 first downs to Riverview's 13 and 104 yards rushing to the Pirates' 216. Marty Knight hit on 8 of 16 passes for 82 yards.

Green, a two-way performer, also distinguished himself on defense where he figured in on 13 tackles, seven of them unassisted. Mark Sullivan was back from an injury which kept him sidelined for four games and the senior linebacker played an outstanding game. Randy Champaign also counted five solos and five assists.

Foley's Eagles finished the season with a 3-6 record and that record disappointed the third year coach.

"I am disappointed only in our over-all record, but not in the performance of our players," Foley said. "Our seniors did themselves proud and will look back on this season with pride and our juniors have built something for the coming year."

had their other receivers covered well."

Wayne's "never-say-Die" defense toppled the big tight end and Discher frantically tried to spot someone else to deliver the ball to. The Zebras, fading to their right, did not get much of a pass rush on Discher and the quick-footed quarterback jitterbugged away from one diving tackler and then sprinted into the endzone for the winning touchdown.

Players were strewn all over the field after the broken play. Some were so physically exhausted they just laid or knelt where they were, too emotionally and physically drained to move. One John Glenn player was flat on his back in the center of the field, a lone prostrate figure in white uniform while a wall of humanity stormed the north endzone to celebrate another Rocket victory.

"I feel especially bad for the seniors," Carter said. "It's a bitter way for the seniors to wind up their high school careers. I thought we played well enough to win. It was a great football game between two good teams and I'm very disappointed for my seniors. The juniors will have another chance next year, but the seniors won't."

Carter openly said he questioned a "couple of calls" by the officiating crew that whistled eight penalties against Wayne for 105 yards. Most of the damage was in the second half when the Zebras were "flagged" by the officials seven times, six of them 15 yard penalties. Three of the 15-yard penalties came on one long drive and nullified two first downs deep in Glenn territory, one on the five-yard-line and one on the three-yard-line.

Carter, who never likes to complain about officiating, was definitely upset with some of the calls, which he said the "young officiating crew" made in the game.

"But give Glenn credit," Carter insisted, "they marched 63 yards in the last two and a half minutes to win the game. Discher deserves a lot of praise for his poise under pressure."

Coach Gordon echoed Carter's words.

"I was extremely proud of our boys' poise down the stretch. We moved 63 yards and took a lot of plays. All the players deserve a pat on the back," he said.

"Yes, we intended to go to Bill Dye and Wayne defended it very well. Discher is to be commended for his quick-thinking and ability to run for the touchdown," Gordon said.

"However, this was truly a team effort and everybody gets a pat on the back for a job well done."

It didn't start out to be a "job well done" when Ken Liedel, an outstanding player all year, fumbled the opening kickoff in the frigid weather and Rick Martin, who made the stop, recovered for Wayne on Glenn's 33-yard-line.

Junior Rick Covault, who stepped in when senior quarterback Pete Tavana was hobbled with an injury, guided the Zebras to paydirt in only six plays.

Ricky Rogers, Wayne's talented tailback, rambled 144 yards in 30 carries in the game, capping the drive with a sparkling 12-yard blast off right tackle for the score. Don Shumpert, who ran for 52 yards in 10 carries, gained two yards on the opening play and then Glenn was flagged five yards for being offside. Rogers carried the next five times, gaining 4, 2, 3 and 5 yards before his scoring burst.

On his touchdown run, Rogers was momentarily stopped by a wall of players, but squirmed free and raced to the right corner of the endzone. Tavana was perfect with the extra point kick and Wayne led, 7-0, with 8:24 left to play in the first quarter.

Watching two teams blessed with speed and quick-strike scoring punch, the jammed stands looked for plenty of offensive fireworks. However, the only other scoring besides the winning TD, came on junior John Johnston's 25-yard field goal with 33 seconds left in the third quarter.

The rest of the game was a defensive masterpiece, with both the Wolfpack Headhunters of Wayne and the Fighting Rockets of Glenn stopping one drive after the other.

For the statistic-minded fans, Wayne had 14 first downs, seven in each half and Glenn had 13, nine in the second half and five during the winning march. In a vital statistic, Wayne whistled 10 times for 105 yards in penalties, with six 15-yarders coming in the second half.

Wayne gained an even 300 yards, 252 on the ground and 48 on one pass completion in the first half. Glenn's attack was more versatile, rolling up 173 yards on the ground and 94 yards through the air on Discher's 7 of 14 attempts. Glenn had five penalties for 55 yards, and was whistled for three 15-yard penalties the second half.

Individually, Rogers had 144 yards in 30 carries and one TD. He was especially effective in the second half, slashing 89 yards in 15 tries. Shumpert had 52 yards in 10 rushes, Covault had 15 yards in five tries, Darryl Hamlin garnered 32 yards in three carries and Ken Taube gained nine yards in three tries.

For Glenn, Scott Thornton again was the workhorse in the backfield, gaining 77 yards in 16 carries. Tailback Ken Liedel, who was in-

Another title year

Three teams went into the Northwest Suburban Conference cross country championships tied for first place and when all the running was over the title went to Westland John Glenn, which has owned the title outright or shared it seven of the past eight years. Members of the

Bentley upsets Franklin

Vigna: Disappointing year

(Continued from Page B-2) enjoyed their final TD of the season. That came about with Jon McCarthy's two-yard quarterback sneak. The TD capped a five play, 79 yard drive.

A 51-yard pass from McCarthy to Steve Reich helped to set up the score. McCarthy also hooked up on a 23-yarder to Tim Przysiecki who fell one-yard short of the TD.

"I feel that one of our big problems in this game was that we weren't mentally up for them," Vigna said. "And that's something I really can't understand. Bentley is always waiting to ambush us. And they did."

Three good reasons why Franklin faltered in the finale was the absence from practice of injured Dave Rettig, Steve Droz and Ron Lohman. Although all three were given permission by their doctors to play in the game, they were forbidden to practice, according to Vigna.

For all it's worth, Franklin dominated the stats. The Pats had 14 first downs, 282 yards total on 8 of 19 passing for 135 and 147 rushing. But they also amassed 11 penalties for 107 yards and those four fumbles were fatal.

Meanwhile, Bentley had eight first downs — three by penalties and 242 yards rushing. The Bulldogs made good on one of four passes.

Franklin brought the curtains down to a 3-6 over-all season and Vigna was not satisfied with that record.

"It's very disappointing," Vigna offered. "But, it happens now-and-then when injuries and other circumstances not related to football wipe out your team.

"After that first ball game with Salem (Franklin won 12-9), we never had the same 11 on the field either defensively or offensively together," Vigna said.

Furries first

PUBLIC NOTICE

Homeowners,

You are currently possessing a very valuable commodity in our real estate market, a home that is valued at under $45,000.00.

At the present time our office alone has quite a few buyers who are awaiting houses in this price range to come on the market.

I know your Big Objection is, if I sell my home I will have to then go out into the market and pay 14 1/2% interest for new financing. Not So.
We have both V. A. and F.H.A. financing available, even if you have purchased your present home on V. A. or F.H.A. financing you may purchase your new home again on V. A. or F.H.A. terms.

Why not put yourself in your dream home by using your equity from your present home, and then buy on V. A. or F.H.A. terms, at 11 1/2% interest.

Sounds good doesn't it? If you are interested in letting us show you how you can sell and buy a new home in a Safe and Efficient manner please contact us for an appointment, or more information.

Yours truly,

GUIDE

For The Week of Friday November 9 thru Thursday November 15, 1979

A new adaptation of Erich Maria Remarque's novel, "All Quiet on the Western Front," starring Richard Thomas and Ernest Borgnine, portrays the terrifying events of World War I as seen through the eyes of a young German soldier. It will air Wednesday, Nov. 14, on CBS. "All Quiet on the Western Front" is the first of four dramas of the 1979-80 semester of the CBS Television Reading Program, a nationwide script-reading project designed to utilize children's enthusiasm for television to help improve their reading skills. Parents and teachers should contact the local CBS affiliate for more information.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

NOVEMBER 1979

Hello:

We have joined together in creating this joint newsletter to enable you to be better informed of the activities of your elected representatives in the State Legislature. Our respective legislative districts overlap to some degree and therefore we share the concerns of our mutual constituents and work closely together on many issues.

Pollution of the Huron River, Ford Lake, and Belleville Lake water system is a serious problem with which we are concerned. We have created a citizens' task force to monitor, interpret, and disseminate information garnered by the University of Michigan.

Additionally we are attempting to improve the adult foster care program, health and social services, education and various other issues crucial to our constituency. We hope that you will find the information contained in this newsletter to be both enlightening and helpful.

We represent you and are always anxious to learn your thoughts and concerns on these and other issues. We hope, therefore, that you will communicate fully with us so that your voice may be heard in Lansing.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM FAUST
State Senate Majority Leader

EDWARD PIERCE
State Senator
18th District

GARY OWEN
State Representative
22nd District

Senator William Faust

Progress Report on the Belleville and Ford Lakes Pollution Problem

People who have been wondering what's being done about the pollution problem at Belleville and Ford Lakes should be interested in the following progress report.

As you may recall, the problem became acute during the summer of 1977 when high bacteria levels forced the closing of beaches on Belleville Lake and almost shut down the area again last summer. The seriousness of the problem resulted in a joint investigation into the possible causes of the pollution in 1977 by the State Department of Natural Resources, the State Department of Public Health and the Wayne and Washtenaw County Health Departments.

Their study concluded that while there were many factors contributing to the pollution problem, no exact cause of the problem could be determined. Thus, worry and controversy regarding the situation has continued while area residents who enjoy the beauty and recreational opportunities provided by the lakes remain justifiably concerned about the future of these two bodies of water.

Well, something is being done.

The University of Michigan has been conducting a thorough and intensive investigation of the entire Huron River-Ford Lake-Belleville Lake system and has recently issued an interim report. The U of M study, which is being financed with a $200,000 grant from the state, will continue through the fall.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

This in-depth study is expected to result in the creation of a computer model of the lake system that will provide an accurate description of the lakes under a variety of circumstances. This computer model should also prove to be very useful in predicting how the lakes will react to different influencing factors, including those produced by man and nature. Once this information is known, it can be used to help devise effective pollution control procedures.

Of course, for a scientific study to be helpful, it must be accurate and it takes time to establish a meaningful sampling system and then to collect and test all the necessary water samples and other data. The interim report from the University of Michigan indicates that significant progress has been made in establishing that sampling, monitoring and testing procedure for the Huron River-Ford Lake-Belleville Lake system study.

I am optimistic that when this study is completed, and the recommendations resulting from it have been made, we will have a thorough understanding of this lake system, what adversely affects it and how best to protect it so that Belleville and Ford Lakes can be utilized to their full potential by the public for many years to come.

I am also pleased that a citizens' task force is very involved in this overall effort to solve the problems of the lakes. So important is the work of the task force that it is described in a separate article in this newsletter. I shall, of course, keep you informed as we continue to learn more from the U of M study.

New Task Force Welcomed in Lakes Study

The establishment and involvement of a citizens' task force in the Belleville and Ford Lakes pollution study is a positive addition to the overall effort being made to solve the problems at the lakes.

Direct citizen participation in government is always welcome because it almost always produces better results. As the intensive University of Michigan study into the entire Huron River-Ford Lake-Belleville Lake system continues, the task force can play an important and much-needed role by helping to keep the public informed regarding the condition of the lakes.

This kind of task force can also be very effective in helping to monitor the condition of the lakes and in developing recommendations for policies regarding utilization of the lakes. Of course, I am always willing to do what I can to assist in this type of local effort.

New Toll-Free Senate "Action Line" Helps Cut Red Tape

It is always a pleasure to be able to announce that the Michigan Senate has found another way to improve service to the public and that's what the new toll-free "Action Line" is all about.

The "Action Line" has been installed in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate to relay messages to Senators from their constituents.

The toll-free number is 1-800-292-5893 and it will be in service Monday through Friday between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Questions or problems phoned in on the "Action Line" will be forwarded to the Senators' offices to be followed up by the Senator or his staff. This new service should help cut through bureaucratic red tape and eliminate the need for expensive long-distance calls to Lansing.

Hung up on bureaucratic red tape?

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Senator Edward Pierce

Dear Friends,

My first nine months in the State Senate are over and I must say the Lansing political front is fascinating. The typical politician I know puts in long, grinding hours of study, sessions and committee meetings. Governmental machinery is cumbersome, but, out of a sometimes tedious process, some good legislation emerges.

The wetlands bill produced a lot of heat in the Senate but is now passed on to the House. A bill to allow marijuana to be used to treat glaucoma patients and those undergoing painful cancer treatments passed through the Health and Social Services Committee, the full Senate and House, and now awaits the Governor's signature.

A parade of controversial bills comes before the Health and Social Services Committee, which I chair, and the fall and winter promise much debate and dissension. At hand is the banning of Medicaid funding for abortion; mandatory health insurance coverage for drug addiction and alcoholism; and a new foster home licensing bill that tightens requirements of licensure and revocation and defines the responsibilities of foster home providers.

For the first time the Senate Majority Leader allowed the standing committees to review the budgets of their jurisdictional areas. For Mental Health, I am especially interested in exploring programs which will allow families to keep their impaired children with them at home if they so choose. My Mental Health Task Force, with the assistance of a student intern, is studying family support systems across the country.

In reviewing the Social Services budget I was particularly distressed over the meager shelter allowance we allow ADC families and I attempted to raise the level during the appropriations battles on the Senate floor. More often than not an ADC family is locked into substandard housing, and I see this in Ypsilanti and elsewhere and I wonder where the American people's priorities are. Perhaps I will see some of our budgetary targets change as I work in Lansing.

One way we can change priorities in a time of tight money is to cut costs in medical care, easily the most rapidly escalating portion of our economy. While we want to maintain quality of care, especially for Medicaid patients, we can also teach people to take better care of themselves and offer physicians incentives to cut down expensive medical procedures. The new State Health Code places Michigan in the national spotlight as a leader in redirecting health planning and financing.

As Vice-Chair of the Education Committee, I am well aware of the tough years ahead as our universities face declining enrollments. My Higher Education Task Force, with representatives of Eastern Michigan University, Washtenaw Community College and the University of Michigan, is taking a hard look at the problem. Another concern of the task force has been the regent selection process at EMU. Barbara Perkins, Task Force Chair, and EMU faculty members George Perkins and Maurice Laney met with the Governor's staff on this issue.

In addition to working on Medicaid cost containment and housing for low-income people this next year, I want to take a close look at the state institutions in our area. Our responsibilities are to see that these institutions—and they are Ypsilanti Regional Hospital, Huron Valley Women's Facility, Forensic Center, Maxey Training School, and Hillcrest—are run efficiently and humanely. Many of the citizens in this area work in these institutions. I would like to hear from you about your work places, their good and bad points. You can feel free to call me in Lansing or in the district, and I will tell you all the numbers where I can be reached:

ADULT FOSTER CARE

One of the problems with adult foster care that has concerned me is the concentration of such facilities in close proximity to the downtown section of Ypsilanti. When added to the problem of those ex-residents of Ypsilanti Regional Psychiatric Hospital who have gone into independent living in the same parts of the city, this situation has created an excessive concentration of persons who are dependent on community services and who need services and programs that are not presently available to them.

The Department of Social Services has the obligation to deny a license to a home if the issuance of that license would contribute to "excessive concentration." The term "excessive concentration" has to be defined in administrative rules before the Department can use it, however. This past spring the Department unveiled its recommended administrative rule, which called for a limitation on beds for adult foster care and child care to no more than five percent of the population of a given city, township, or county.

At a hearing in Ypsilanti on April 24, I made it clear that I opposed that rule language because it had no relationship to the ability of a community to absorb the residents of such facilities. If we allowed that many beds in cities like Ypsilanti (about 1,350 beds in the city as opposed to less than 350 now), we never would see placements being made in homes in other parts of Washtenaw County, or in other counties where there are few homes, if any. I would prefer a one percent rule, at the maximum, with legislation allowing the local community to waive that rule for a particular facility that had demonstrated a real need to locate in the city.

At the present time, the Department of Social Services is doing a total rewrite of the rule. I do not expect that we will see the new language before fall. I will be looking at that language very carefully, however. Ypsilanti is only one of about twelve cities in the state with a problem of excessive concentration of dependent persons dating back to the days of "dumping" residents out of state institutions.

TEN-CENT CHECK TAX PROPOSAL

A bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives to establish a transaction tax in the amount of ten cents on all checks and money orders. My opposition to this measure is based upon the fact that this is a regressive tax since it is not based on an individual's ability to pay. The proposed tax would cost the average person as much on a one-dollar check as it would a major corporation on a sixty-million-dollar check. I feel this only penalizes the small consumer and provides them with no noticeable benefit.

This type of "trick" tax is often accepted by the public because they are not aware of the long-term implications. It is my opinion that slipping through this type of tax proposal does nothing but further diminish the people's trust in their government. I am therefore strongly opposed to this bill.
